India, EU now natural, preferred partners: EAM

UJWAL JALALI
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, FEBRUARY 18

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Wednesday said India and the European Union today regard each other as "natural and preferred partners", citing growing strategic convergence and recent agreements that together mark a new phase in bilateral ties.

Speaking at the launch of the European Legal Gateway Office in India, Jaishankar described the initiative as a reflection of the "depth, confidence and maturity" of the India-EU strategic partnership and a practical step to facilitate talent mobility, education and professional engagement across Europe.

He said relations had reached a defining moment with the participation of top EU leadership as Guests of Honour at India's Republic Day celebrations — the first such joint presence — signalling expanding political trust and long-term alignment.

Jaishankar noted that the conclusion of negotiations for a free trade agreement, the signing of a security and defence partnership and adoption of the Towards 2030: India-EU Comprehensive Strategic Agenda had laid out a roadmap focused on prosperity, security and sustainability.

The minister stressed that global economic shifts — including supply-chain reconfiguration, technological change and demographic divergence — were making skilled mobility central to international cooperation.
