'GDP nos from different series can't be compared'

Besides, more data is available since the number was originally estimated, it said.

Former finance secretary Subhash Chandra Garg had questioned the govt data and said that nominal GDP growth would have been about 2.6% during April-June 2026-27 and real GDP growth close to 0% if last year's GDP had not been revised down from Rs 86 lakh crore to Rs 80 lakh crore.

The statistics ministry said that the GDP numbers from different series cannot be compared to arrive at the growth rate. Accordingly, GDP at current prices under the new series was estimated at Rs 80.32 lakh crore for June quarter of the last fiscal year. This was revised to Rs 80.44 lakh crore in June.

Mishra joined NDA in 1983

"Whatever inspired the other 5,585 candidates inspired me as well," retired IAF officer said, adding that he had learnt of his appointment through news reports. "I am yet to receive any official communication from the trust," he said.

Mishra was Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief of the IAF's Western Air Command when Op Sindoor was launched on May 7, 2025, in response to the Pahalgam terror attack.

As commander of Western Air Command, Mishra oversaw decisions related to the deployment of aircraft and air defence assets during the operation. He was awarded Sarvottam Yudh Seva Medal for distinguished service. His appointment brings a leader with extensive experience in operational planning, logistics, coordination and management of large organisations.

In a recent podcast, Mishra had spoken about the air campaign during Op Sindoor, describing how Indian forces identified and struck targets deep inside Pakistan.

A native of Bhopatpura village in UP's Deoria district, Mishra comes from a middle-class family. His father was a lecturer. He joined the NDA in 1983 and was commissioned as a fighter pilot in Dec 1986 before qualifying as an experimental test pilot.

HC seeks proof Aakriti provoked protesters

She and Lucknow-based writer and translator Satyam Varma were charged under NSA, with police accusing them of being the main "conspirators" of the violence.

During the hearing, the govt counsel informed the court that Aakriti had been arrested at 10.56 am on April 12 and a notice had been issued to her under Section 130 of BNSS in accordance with the law. But the court questioned that, asking if a notice was served to her under section 126 BNSS (a show cause before a preventive detention is initiated), which is a precursor to a Section 130 notice. Referring to police's general diary, HC also pointed out that Aakriti appears to have been arrested before the notice was served to her. The court also asked state what material it had to show that she had asked protesters to set vehicles on fire. When the state counsel said the chargesheet had been filed, Justice Sreedharan observed: "Once the chargesheet is filed, you should have seen where witnesses have named her."

When counsel cited witness statements naming her, HC asked for footage showing she had instigated protesters. When counsel sought more time, the bench declined, noting Aakriti had already spent five months in jail.
