Appointment of BJP leader's kin in welfare board triggers row in Palakkad Congress

The Hindu Bureau
PALAKKAD

A temporary appointment given to the sister of a Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leader at the Kerala Agricultural Workers' Welfare Fund Board has triggered a controversy within the Congress in Palakkad, with party workers alleging that some senior leaders helped secure the job.

Aishwarya, sister of Ashwathy Manikandan, Palakkad district secretary of the BJP's Mahila Morcha, was appointed to the board on a temporary basis.

Congress workers have questioned the appointment, alleging that some party leaders are helping BJP leaders and their relatives secure jobs and other benefits. They said Congress workers who served the party for years, took part in agitations and faced legal cases were being ignored.

A section of workers said the party leadership had failed to recognise the contributions and sacrifices of its grassroots workers. They demanded that the appointment be cancelled and that deserving party workers not be overlooked.

Submits complaints

Palakkad block Congress leaders have submitted complaints to the Chief Minister, Kerala Pradesh Congress Committee president and District Congress Committee (DCC) president, seeking an inquiry into the appointment. They have asked the party leadership to examine whether the prescribed procedures were followed and eligible candidates were considered.

DCC president A. Thankappan confirmed that he had received the complaint and said it was being examined. He said he would intervene if any irregularities or violations of norms were found in the appointment process.

Mr. Thankappan said the complaint did not name anyone. He also said it was unlikely that the Congress leaders would recommend candidates belonging to the BJP.

He maintained that he would not recommend BJP workers for appointments, regardless of personal relationships.

Need to usher in new driving culture in State: Satheesan

At the State-level inauguration of Jeeva-Suyathra Mission in Kochi, CM issues directives to MVD and police to deal with traffic and road safety violations with a stern hand for coming six months

Higher Education Minister Roji M. John, actor Mammootty, Chief Minister V.D. Satheesan, and Transport Minister C.P. John at the inauguration of Jeeva-Suyathra Mission, a road safety initiative, in Kochi on Sunday. H. VIBHU

There is a need to usher in a new driving culture in Keralam at any cost, considering the dangerously high number of accidents occurring in the State over the past many years, Chief Minister V.D. Satheesan said here on Sunday.

Speaking after the State-level inauguration of the Jeeva-Suyathra Mission here, he issued directives to the Motor Vehicles department (MVD) and the police to deal with traffic and road safety violations with a stern hand, irrespective of the status of rule-breakers, for the coming six months. The results, in the form of a lower number of accidents, will begin to show in subsequent months. No official must heed to excuses or attempts to influence them, he said.

Accident victims

On the agonising life of road accident victims and their family members, Mr. Satheesan said tens of thousands of people, which is many times the number of accident fatalities in Keralam, remain bed-ridden for life. Drawing a stark contrast between how the same set of people from Keralam drive here and in West Asia, he said countries there impose hefty penalties and also imprisonment on rule violators. This certainty of punishment is thus a deterrent for rule violators.

He exhorted enforcement personnel to behave courteously but in a stern manner with those who compromise on road safety. Pedestrian safety too must be ensured at any cost, the Chief Minister said.

The Kerala State Road Safety Mission is spearheading the Jeeva-Suyathra Mission.

In his address, actor Mammootty, who is the brand ambassador of the Jeeva-Suyathra Mission and an automobile enthusiast, exhorted motorists to end overspeeding and rash driving, as even a moment's carelessness could turn fatal on the roads, he said. "The casual way in which people conduct themselves on roads and in public spaces must end, for which awareness must be created at the school level. On their part, pedestrians must make optimal use of footpaths. They must reclaim footpaths and pavements so that encroachers and others do not occupy them," Mr. Mammootty said.

Alarming number

Speaking on the occasion, Transport Minister C.P. John voiced concern over the alarming number of nearly 4,000 road accident deaths each year in the State. The number ought to be halved in another couple of years. Stating that the motto of enforcement agencies is to 'Enlighten and Enforce', he said the mission is to wipe away the tears of accident victims and their family members.

Sharmila Mary Joseph, Principal Secretary (Transport), said that at 445 vehicles per 1,000 people, Keralam has over four times the number of vehicles than the national average. Most of the 3,800 deaths each year in 50,000 accidents are due to bad driving habits, she said. The others who spoke included Traffic and Road Safety Commissioner Satish Bino and Transport Commissioner Sparjan Kumar.

The function also saw the release of a teaser on road safety and a trainers' road safety handbook.

43-year-old woman injured in gas cylinder blast in Thrissur

The Hindu Bureau
THRISSUR

A 43-year-old woman sustained serious injuries after a gas cylinder exploded at her house at Ponjhanam in Kattoor, near Irinjalakuda, in Thrissur district around midnight on Saturday.

The injured woman, Abitha, wife of Shine of Thekkumpuram House, was rushed to a private hospital in Thrissur.

The explosion occurred while Abitha and her three children, Ardra, Shivendra and Parthiv, were asleep. While the children were sleeping on a bed, Abitha was resting on a mat in a bedroom adjacent to the kitchen.

Her husband, who works as a driver at a timber mill in Chovvoor, was away at the time.

Firewood stove

A firewood stove in the kitchen had been kept burning to heat water. Fire and Rescue Services personnel who reached the spot suspect that an ember from the stove may have fallen near the gas cylinder, triggering the explosion.

The blast destroyed the kitchen and caused extensive damage to the house, shattering windowpanes, doors and floor tiles in other rooms.

A six-member Fire and Rescue Services team from the Irinjalakuda fire station conducted the rescue operation.

Cartoonist P.V. Krishnan passes away at 83

The Hindu Bureau
THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

Cartoonist P.V. Krishnan, known for his sharp socio-political satire, passed away at his home in Thiruvananthapuram on Sunday. He was 83.

Mr. Krishnan is best known for his popular cartoon series 'Sakshi' (Witness), which appeared in the Kumkumam weekly for over four decades starting 1977.

Born in Kannur district, he began his career as an art teacher, before he was hired as a designer in the State government's Public Relations department in 1976. The job provided him a ringside view of State's political sphere. Even as he worked as part of the government, he continued to raise questions through his cartoons. Condoling his death, Chief Minister V.D. Satheesan said that Mr. Krishnan's artistic brilliance and sharp journalistic wit left an indelible mark on Keralam.
