

Research (ICAR) campus at March 14. This marks the second outbreak of the virus in the country within weeks. Earlier, in February, 25, nearly 500 birds were culled at RASU's Poultry Research Training Centre after infection of the virus.

So far, eight districts in Bihar - Patna, Bhagalpur, Supaul, Patna, Darbhanga, Katihar, West Champaran and Bannamukhi in Patna - have reported bird flu cases. Patna remains the only district where the infection has been spread in both poultry and crows. In other districts, the virus has so far been confined to crows, with more than 400 deaths reported.

Experts believe migratory birds carry the H5N1 virus, underscoring the need for heightened surveillance and strict biosecurity protocols.

She Kumar Manohar, a 24-year-old resident of Kharatcha village. The police said it was not informed about the case. *
