AP geared up to face Murasu impact

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

SEVERE cyclonic storm Murasu over the Bay of Bengal is likely to cross the Andhra Pradesh coast near Ongole between midnight on Monday and the early hours of Tuesday, bringing strong winds of 100-120 kmph and heavy to extremely heavy rainfall across coastal Andhra and Rayalaseema districts.

Andhra Pradesh State Disaster Management Authority (APSDMA) Managing Director (MD) Prakhar Jain said on Monday that the cyclone was moving at a speed of 13 kmph during the past six hours. It was centred around 70 km from Kavali, 80 km from Nellore, 90 km from Ongole, 120 km from Bapatla and 170 km each from Tirupati and Machilipatnam.

The cyclone is expected to cross the coast in the vicinity of central Ongole. Wind speeds are likely to reach 100-120 kmph during landfall. Authorities have warned of possible storm surges along the coastal areas of Bapatla and Krishna districts. Fishermen have been advised not to venture into the sea, while people have been urged to remain indoors.

Heavy to extremely heavy rainfall is likely in parts of West Godavari, Krishna, Guntur, Bapatla, Palnadu, Prakasam, Markapuram and Nellore districts. P4

DIWALI LET-UP

Green crackers allowed in NCR only on Nov 7, 8

SC warns police officials of contempt action if its orders are not complied with

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

HOLDING that a complete ban on firecrackers is not only facilitating illegal sale but also preventing people from purchasing legitimate green crackers, the Supreme Court on Monday allowed bursting of green firecrackers in Delhi-National Capital Region (NCR) from 6 am to 7 am and from 8 to 10 pm on November 7 and 8.

Diwali falls on November 8 this year. A bench of justices M M Sundresh and Prasanna B Varale said the complete ban on firecrackers across Delhi-NCR will come back into force from November 9.

"No firecrackers shall be burst within a 300-metre radius of hospitals, nursing homes, primary and district health centres, old-age homes and notified silence zones. These areas, along with educational institutions, will be declared No-Cracker Zones and appropriately marked and publicised," the court said.

> This court is short of adequate data to decide whether or not a complete ban would be the best solution to solve the problem of pollution caused by firecrackers
> Supreme Court

The bench clarified that only green firecrackers certified by NEERI and PESO will be allowed in Delhi-NCR on the permitted days and time slot. Observing that bursting firecrackers would certainly cause pollution, the bench said the right of an individual to engage in a particular practice, which may have a religious colour, is only a qualified one and cannot go beyond the constitutional restrictions.

"Though imposition of a blanket ban seems to be the ideal solution, we are of the opinion that this court, at this point in time, is short of adequate data to decide whether or not a complete ban would be the best solution to solve the problem of environmental pollution, caused by bursting firecrackers," the bench said in its October 29 order which was published on Monday.

On the safety aspect, the court said boxes containing green crackers must be completely sealed to ensure that they are not mixed with any unauthorised or conventional firecrackers, and that there shall be no manufacture or sale of firecrackers joined in series ('ladis') and garlands. The court directed the Delhi Police, Uttar Pradesh Police, Haryana Police and district administrations in NCR to ensure strict compliance. It warned officials of contempt action if its directions are not complied with.

Pilot rule: Char Dham chopper ops suspended

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

THE ongoing face-off between chartered flight operators in Uttarakhand and the aviation regulator over the co-pilot rule resulted in cancellation of all 40 Char Dham trips scheduled for Monday, upsetting the travel plans of 250 pilgrims.

With no breakthrough emerging in the talks between the Directorate General of Civil Aviation and the private operators on the new rule of two pilots per aircraft, the operators have decided to cancel chopper services for the rest of the season, which ends on November 7.

A reputed operator, speaking on behalf of the 13 operators who run these trips, told TNIE: "The DGCA held a virtual meet with all of us on Monday. We reiterated what we had communicated to them earlier that it was not possible logistically or financially to operate every helicopter with two pilots. We made it clear that the operators should have been involved in taking any such decision."

He added that a collective decision has been taken by all operators to suspend all Char Dham trips.

An average of 40 trips are operated per day with six passengers accommodated per aircraft. "We will be cancelling all the trips and reimbursing all the fare to the passengers though we will incur huge losses," the operator said.

The aerial pilgrim trip begins at Sahastradhara helipad in Dehradun and covers Yamunotri, Gangotri, Kedarnath and Badrinath. It begins annually either by the last week of April or the first week of May and continues till June 25. After shutting down during the rainy season, it restarts by mid-September and continues till the first week of November.

'Nobody will trust you': SC rejects govt plea against Vedanta arbitration awards

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday dismissed the Centre's appeal against the enforcement of two foreign arbitral awards in favour of mining major Vedanta and Ravva Oil (Singapore), questioning the government's resistance to the payouts and warning that prolonged litigation will undermine global trust in India's arbitration framework.

"Nobody will trust you," a bench of justices J B Pardiwala and Manmohan said while rejecting the Centre's appeal against the Delhi High Court's July 1 order allowing the enforcement of the 2004 and 2016 Kuala Lumpur awards involving claims of $99 million.

Criticising the government's stance, the bench asked: "What are these arguments? You are frustrating an arbitral award... at the stage of enforcement?"

The bench said it found no error in the HC ruling, which had rejected the Centre's objections to the awards.

The dispute traces its origins to a 1994 production-sharing contract between the Union government and a consortium comprising ONGC, Videocon Petroleum, Ravva Oil and Cairn Energy, whose interest passed to the erstwhile Cairn India (which later merged with Vedanta) for the development of Ravva oilfield in the Krishna-Godavari basin.

Following disagreement between the government and the companies over the interpretation of the contract in calculating the Centre's share of profit, the matter was referred to arbitration in Kuala Lumpur.

The bench asked why the matter continued for so long when the first award was in 2004 and final award in 2016.

Additional Solicitor General Vikramjit Banerjee appeared for the Centre while Mukul Rohatgi and Akhil Sibal represented Vedanta and others.

INDIA'S FIRST FULL SOLAR VILLAGE

141 homes, 282 kW, zero rupees in electricity bill

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

FOR as long as anyone in Khaira can remember, the monthly power bill sat on the kitchen shelf next to rice, medicines and grocery, competing for the same few rupees. This year, that bill lost its place.

The tiny village in Chhattisgarh's Rajnandgaon district is now India's first to cover every household with rooftop solar under the 'PM Surya Ghar: Muft Bijli Yojana', officials said. All 141 homes now carry a 2 kW solar rooftop system, adding up to nearly 282 kW of clean energy capacity for its 889 residents.

The villagers paid nothing. Central and state subsidies met the base cost, and corporate social responsibility funds covered the rest, ensuring zero out-of-pocket expenditure for the residents.

"Khaira's families have transitioned from passive, grid-dependent consumers into self-reliant urjadatas (energy producers) who feed their surplus power back into the utility grid. The shift represents not just lower utility metres, but an empowering psychological pivot where clean technology is no longer an urban luxury, but an integral part of everyday rural domestic life," Jitendra Yadav, Rajnandgaon collector told this newspaper.

How Khaira flipped the electricity playbook

Khaira's solar leap was not won through top-down mandates, but community trust. The breakthrough was driven by local mobilisers — known as PM Surya Sakhis — including local champion Sangeeta Sahu, working in tandem with self-help groups

Sarpanch Bhupendra Yadav said rooftop solar has mostly reached city dwellers who can handle paperwork. Khaira, he said, put the most vulnerable households first. Of 141 homes, 93 are PMAY-G houses that got solar from day one.

For those on fixed incomes, the change is personal. "I live alone and depend only on my pension. Now I don't have to worry about electricity bill," said widow Shohgil Gond.

‘High-stakes’ United State midterms enter final stretch

Candidates make pitch before polls seen as referendum on Don’s leadership

Workmen scrub a glass skylight as dawn arrives on Capitol Hill in Washington, Monday, a day before the midterm elections | AP

WASHINGTON

DONALD Trump and his Republican Party will make last-gasp pitches to US midterm voters Monday to hold back a predicted Democrat wave that could sweep Congress and impose tight political constraints on the president for the first time in two years.

For his closing arguments, Trump chose a speech in Washington at the Lincoln Memorial Reflecting Pool — a landmark that has become synonymous with the 80-year-old president’s controversial drive to redevelop the US capital. “We’re going to win,” he said on Sunday.

Democrats, meanwhile, prepared a round of final rallies — including by star Democratic Senate candidates James Talarico in Texas and Adam Hamilton in Kansas — which will cap a campaign of breathtaking tension and bitterness.

Polls are largely in their favor, showing that Democrats are poised to take the majority from Republicans in the House of Representatives and have a real shot at winning the currently Republican Senate.

Even winning just the House would mean Democrats have voting power over the federal budget and would lead powerful committees able to investigate alleged corruption under Trump, the Epstein files and other explosive issues.

The loss of total Republican dominance would push Trump into a lame-duck period, with high inflation at home, the sputtering war against Iran, and hostile Democratic investigations into his activities in Washington.

While the House seems highly likely to turn Democratic, the battle for the Senate is up in the air. Only a third of the Senate’s 100 seats are being contested in these midterms, and few of the races were seen as favorable to Democrats.

To win the upper chamber, Democrats must flip seats in states the president carried by double digits two years before. This has only happened five times in midterm elections since 1990.

In its last pre-poll projection, forecaster Decision Desk HQ had the Senate flipping to 52-48 in favor of the Democrats, and the party notching a 241-194 margin in the House. Agencies

Democratic divisions shake up key Senate race in Michigan

WASHINGTON

A Democratic congresswoman in Michigan broke ranks with her party on Sunday to endorse the Republican candidate in her state’s key US Senate race against left-wing progressive candidate Abdul El-Sayed.

In a startling display of party infighting just two days before the November 3 midterm election, Haley Stevens, who lost a bruising primary to El-Sayed in August despite being backed by the Democratic establishment, said she was endorsing Republican Mike Rogers.

Haley Stevens

“This is a very close election, we all know that, but Abdul made very clear that I was not welcome in his campaign,” she told reporters when announcing her endorsement.

Trump praised Stevens for her “bravery,” posting on his Truth Social platform that “Haley said what few people are willing to say.”

“She showed great and almost unprecedented loyalty to the Great People of Michigan with what she did,” he said.

Sunday’s statement from Stevens was illustrative of internal divisions within the party, with left-wing candidates often clashing with the Democratic Party’s establishment core on key issues. It represented a fissure in the party over its relationship with Israel. AFP

Iran says ready to reopen strait as ‘intensive’ talks with US continue

TEHRAN

IRAN on Monday said “intensive” exchanges were underway with Washington and offered to reopen the Strait of Hormuz under strict conditions, as efforts escalated to avert a return to war.

Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi said indirect talks were taking place via mediators. China also urged a return to negotiations, while Iran’s security chief discussed the conflict with Russian President Vladimir Putin.

“Given the sensitivity and gravity of the current situation, consultations and deliberations are very intensive,” Araghchi said in a video interview with the official IRNA news agency.

A Iranian official said Tehran was ready to open Hormuz, export way for the energy-rich Gulf, within 2 days — as long as Washington agrees to its list of demands.

WAR WATCH

“The possibility of implementing this plan in two days is another indication of Iran’s good-faith approach,” foreign ministry spokesman Esmaeil Baqaei told reporters.

The Axios news outlet reported that US Vice President JD Vance had sent a letter to Iranian national security chief Mohsen Rezaei about possible new talks, marking the highest-level move in months. Meanwhile, Iran’s First Vice President Mohammad Reza Aref said on Monday that exchanges with the US via mediators indicated Washington’s recognition of Tehran’s ‘victory’. AFP
