Germany inks deal with US to buy Tomahawk missiles

BERLIN

GERMANY has struck a deal to buy US-made Tomahawk cruise missiles and station them in the country, Chancellor Friedrich Merz said Thursday.

The agreement on the long-range missiles, which are used to strike targets deep inside enemy territory, was reached this week on the sidelines of the NATO summit in Turkey's capital, Ankara, Merz said.

"This will close an important strategic gap in our defense, and at the same time, we will work to develop our own European systems and station them in Europe," he told the German parliament after returning from the two-day summit.

German Chancellor Friedrich Merz

The deal struck with the Trump administration amounts to broader export of US know-how to some of its major allies in Europe, whose security posture has been upended by Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine in early 2022.

The Tomahawk cruise missile has been in the U.S. military's inventory since the 1980s. While slow by missile standards, it flies around 100 feet (about 30 meters) off the ground, making it harder to detect by defense systems.

The Tomahawk has a range of around 1,600 kilometers (1,000 miles) and precision guidance systems that make it the go-to weapon for striking targets that are deep inland or in hostile territory.

The deal centers a U.S. commitment to give Germany approval in August to procure an undisclosed number of Tomahawks and corresponding ground-based Typhoon launchers. Deployment of US personnel to operate the systems was not part of the letter of intent signed on Tuesday that underpins the agreement. Successive German governments have been seeking such a deal since 2023. AP

'It will get worse' if attacks continue: Trump warns Iran

Iran warns of retribution, says US hasn't learned bullying isn't cost-free

ANKARA, DUBAI, TEHRAN

THE United States launched new airstrikes against Iran early Thursday, and Tehran responded by targeting US-allied Mideast countries in an exchange of fire that derailed an interim deal intended to help end the war in the Middle East.

Back-and-forth attacks, including a day earlier, have repeatedly threatened the ceasefire. But Thursday's appeared bigger all around, with sirens sounding at least three times in Bahrain, home to the U.S.

Navy's 5th Fleet headquarters, and missiles targeting Kuwait and Qatar. After leaving a NATO summit in Turkey, Trump on Thursday posted several videos on his social media site of what he said were explosions in Iran and issued another warning to the Islamic Republic.

"This is in retribution for yesterday's bombing of ships by Iran. If it happens again, it will get much worse!" Trump wrote. Trump also renewed his past threats to hit Iran's civilian infrastructure, including electric and desalination plants, and to seize Kharg Island, through which some 90% of Iranian oil exports pass.

The exchange of fire began after Iran attacked three tankers in the Strait of Hormuz on Tuesday.

The new attacks, despite the ceasefire, could reflect a divide among Iran's leadership.

Hard-liners want to ensure lasting control over the Strait of Hormuz, a critical lever in confronting the West.

Parliament Speaker Mohammad Bagher Qalibaf, a key negotiator in talks seeking a permanent end to the war, was defiant in a post on X on Thursday morning: "America still hasn't learned that bullying and breaking promises are no longer cost-free. Let me put it plainly: If you strike, you'll get hit." AP

Israel says ready to attack Iran third time

TEL AVIV: Israel's Defence Minister Israel Katz on Thursday said his country was prepared to resume its military campaign against Iran if needed, vowing to do so "with even greater force". "The army is ready and on alert for a resumption of fighting, in order to regain air superiority and strike again... in Iran, to eliminate threats, including a third time if necessary. If we have to go back, we will go back, with even greater force," Katz said at a military ceremony.

WAR WATCH

Jordan's military says it intercepted 8 missiles

AMMAN: The Jordanian military said it intercepted eight missiles fired from Iran on Thursday, while the Islamic republic said it targeted a US base there amid a new exchange of strikes between Tehran and Washington. "Jordanian air defence systems intercepted and shot down, today, Thursday, eight missiles that were launched from Iran toward Jordanian territory," the military said in a statement. In Kuwait, the military said falling debris wounded one person as the nation shot down three missiles, a cruise missile and drones. Bahrain said it shot down incoming fire, without elaborating.

Chemical weapon body gives Syria its voting rights

THE HAGUE

THE global chemical weapons watchdog on Thursday reinstated Syria's voting rights at the body, rewarding Damascus for "constructive engagement" with the organization and a willingness to destroy previously hidden stockpiles of toxic munitions.

The decision by the executive council of the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons underscores a new era of cooperation since the ouster of former President Bashar Assad in 2024, and comes five years after Syria's voting rights were suspended as a punishment for the repeated use of toxic gas by Damascus. It was the first time a member state had been hit with such a sanction. AP
