US strikes coastal defences, Iran retaliates with ballistic missiles

Tehran warns of wider regional attacks as renewed fighting over the Strait of Hormuz deepens

TEHRAN

THE United States struck Iran and Tehran hit back at US allies in the Gulf on Thursday, as the foes battled over the vital Strait of Hormuz in the renewed West Asia war despite a call from mediator Pakistan to resume talks. The rekindled fighting came a month after the signing of a preliminary deal that aimed to end the conflict, which broke out in late February with massive US-Israeli strikes on Iran.

On Thursday, Tehran warned it would target infrastructure across the region if US President Donald Trump followed through on a threat to attack power plants and bridges in Iran. That followed a fresh exchange of strikes between the two countries, with Iran's Revolutionary Guards saying they struck a US airbase in Jordan with ballistic missiles in response to what they described as an American attack near a children's cancer hospital in the Islamic republic.

State media said the hospital in Ahvaz, in the southwest, was evacuated following US airstrikes on the area, with the patients transferred to other medical centres. Foreign ministry spokesman Esmaeil Baqaei slammed the attack as "barbaric". The US military's Central Command (CENTCOM) said its forces hit Iranian military targets in multiple locations including coastal Bandar Abbas to "degrade Iran's ability to threaten innocent mariners" in the Strait of Hormuz.

Earlier strikes had targeted coastal defence and cruise missile sites on Greater Tunb Island in the Gulf, CENTCOM added. Iranian state news agency IRNA said a projectile struck parts of Semnan airport in the north, without injuring anyone. It also reported explosions elsewhere in the country, including Lorestan in the west, while air defences were triggered in parts of Tehran. AFP

Three islands at the centre of Gulf tensions

THOUGH COVERING JUST 25 SQ KM, ABU MUSA, GREATER TUNB AND LESSER TUNB OVERLOOK THE STRAIT OF HORMUZ, A VITAL GLOBAL OIL AND GAS SHIPPING ROUTE NOW IN THE SPOTLIGHT AMID THE US-IRAN CONFLICT

WHY THEY MATTER

- Located at the entrance to the Strait of Hormuz
- Around 20% of the world's oil and natural gas passes through the waterway
- Iran has stationed missiles, air defence systems and fast attack boats on the islands
- Location allows Iran to monitor and influence shipping through the strait

WHO CONTROLS THEM?

- Iran seized the islands in 1971, two days before the formation of the UAE
- The UAE continues to claim sovereignty, while Iran maintains control
- The ownership dispute remains unresolved

WHY THEY ARE IN FOCUS

- US strikes recently targeted Abu Musa and Greater Tunb
- Analysts say the islands are key to Iran's defence of the Strait of Hormuz
- Any military operation there could affect one of the world's busiest energy corridors

DISPUTED ISLAND IN THE STRAIT OF HORMUZ

A look at the locations hit in the latest US-Iran exchange of attacks

TIMELINE

- 1971: Iran seizes the three islands
- 1979: Islands become key Iranian military outposts after the Islamic Revolution
- 1980: Used during the Tanker War to target and monitor shipping
- 2026: US strikes bring the disputed islands back into focus

Ukraine defence row spills into public as Zelenskyy urges unity

KYIV

UKRAINE's ousted defence minister issued stunning public criticism of the army's top commander on Thursday, forcing President Volodymyr Zelenskyy to call for unity to halt signs of an emerging split in the military top ranks.

Large protests erupted in several Ukrainian cities on Thursday against the removal of popular defence minister Mykhailo Fedorov, who had been brought in six months ago to digitise and modernise an army fatigued after four years fighting off the Russian invasion. The spiralling leadership row risks throwing uncertainty on the war effort at a time when Ukraine was in one of its best positions for months.

Kyiv's troops have largely halted the pace of Russia's advance while the pounding of Russian oil and military sites with long-range drones has triggered a nationwide fuel crisis inside its neighbour.

After being forced to resign, Fedorov on Thursday accused Ukraine's commander-in-chief Oleksandr Syrsky of dividing the country. "Instead of figuring out how to defeat Russia asymmetrically — which is the commander-in-chief's task — he figured out how to split the country," Fedorov told reporters, including AFP. He criticised slow bureaucracy and a lack of flexibility, questioning whether Ukraine could defeat Russia with Syrsky in charge of the army. "In this configuration, I personally don't know how to win the war," he said, wearing his trademark jeans and dark T-shirt, speaking in front of a large screen showing drones.

He also alleged Syrsky had engineered his removal through an ultimatum issued to Zelenskyy after months of clashes.

Zelenskyy himself issued a plea for "unity" and said the two sides — the defence ministry and the army command — were barely on speaking terms. "A president in wartime should not have to choose in such a situation, honestly," he said, speaking alongside UK Prime Minister Keir Starmer in Kyiv. "I would very much like unity."

A soldier serving in Ukraine's army told AFP the political chaos in Kyiv could hit the war effort. AFP

Ukraine names Koretsky as new Prime Minister

KYIV: Ukraine's parliament on Thursday approved the appointment of Naftogaz chief Sergiy Koretsky as prime minister in a government reshuffle ordered by President Volodymyr Zelenskyy. The 48-year-old, credited with steering the state energy company through repeated Russian attacks on critical infrastructure last winter, is expected to oversee Ukraine through another difficult winter.

Addressing parliament, Koretsky said his experience at Naftogaz had shown that "government administration can and should be effective", citing efforts to maintain gas supplies despite heavy losses in production. He replaces Yulia Svyrydenko, who resigned earlier this week. Zelenskyy has said only that the reshuffle reflects a change in Ukraine's political strategy to meet "new challenges and new tasks" as the war with Russia continues.

UK takes over Chinese-owned British Steel

LONDON

THE UK government has nationalised British Steel to protect the nation's steelmaking capacity after the company's Chinese owners moved to shut the plant's blast furnaces.

The Department for Business and Trade announced the move on Thursday, saying it would save thousands of jobs and protect the UK's national interest by ensuring a supply of domestically produced steel for major construction projects and the defense industry. "British Steel now belongs to the British people, and our focus is on the future: stabilising the business, backing the communities that rely on it and building a sustainable, competitive and decarbonised steel sector for the years ahead," Business Secretary Peter Kyle said in a statement.

An independent evaluation will be carried out to determine whether any compensation will be paid to the firm's former owner, China's Jingye Group.

The UK government took operational control of British Steel last year after Jingye said that it was considering closing the blast furnaces at its Scunthorpe plant in northern England. The blast furnaces are the last in the UK that make virgin steel. AP

Italy jails former-motorway CEO and 31 others

GENOA

AN Italian court sentenced 32 defendants on Thursday, including the former head of motorway operator Autostrade, for their role in a deadly bridge disaster eight years ago that killed 43 people.

Autostrade's former chief executive, Giovanni Castellucci, was found guilty of vehicular homicide and negligence related to the collapse of the bridge in Genoa — one of the country's worst infrastructure disasters.

The crowded courtroom was packed with relatives of those who plunged to their deaths when the Morandi Bridge gave way in torrential rain on August 14, 2018. Castellucci, who was accused of postponing key maintenance work, was sentenced to 12 years behind bars.

The former executive is already serving time for his responsibility in a 2013 accident in which a bus crashed through the barriers of a viaduct, killing 40 people.

"Today we can say there are those guilty of the murder of our relatives," said Michele Matti Altadonna, whose brother was one of the victims. "We are here for our loved ones, in their memory," he told AFP. Legal teams for some of the defendants. AFP

Don to return to his poll battle in national address

WASHINGTON

DONALD Trump is set to address the nation on Thursday night on topics he said will include elections and voting machines, suggesting he is likely to revisit some of the unproven claims he has previously made about Republican losses, particularly his own in 2020.

Trump has continued to revisit his 2020 election loss to Joe Biden and long-debunked fraud claims, even when discussing unrelated issues, underscoring his enduring focus on old political grievances.

Trump has offered only vague details about the address, scheduled for 9pm. When asked by a reporter on Tuesday if it would concern "election machines and integrity," Trump said it would "concern that subject" and "we'll have a couple of other things to say also." He went on to say that he has "really, really big news and our country has to shape up. But that's what we're going to be talking about Thursday."

He added that "it doesn't get bigger because without free and fair elections, you don't have a country." AP
