SP MANIFESTO

festo today because 'Acche Din' never came, but 'Bure Din' are about to go away. They know that they are about to be ousted, so their language has changed," Yadav said, adressing the event.

"The Samajwadi Party will ensure a bright future for the young men and women of Uttar Pradesh. For this equal opportunities for quality education will be provided to everyone," said Yadav.

The party promises zero tolerance for heinous crimes against Dalits, backward classes, minorities, Muslims, women and children.

"Our pledge is to provide government jobs to 25 lakh youth within five years, and make employment available to 2 to 3 crore youth in other sectors," said Yadav.

Yadav criticised the current tablet scheme and accused the government of "ruining education", alleging high-handedness at universities and school closures.

Turning to the Constitution, Yadav said a few "dominant, supremacist and selfish" people want to keep their "thousands of years of power" intact and, in that attempt, want not only to amend the Constitution but to erase it.

"Our country will be governed by 'Samvidhan' (Constitution) and not 'Manvidhan' (arbitrariness)," he said, adding that a few powers want to rule through the latter.

"On one hand, there are those who want to misuse the Constitution to come to power. One the other hand is PDA, who wants the rule of social justice of the Constitution, we want to erase all differences, uphold reservation and equality" he said, framing the elections as a "war".

Welfare promises include Samajwadi Canteens serving meals at Rs 5 a plate, and a Rs 40,000 annual pension for elderly women, including elderly women artisans, paid directly to bank accounts. A Maintenance and Welfare of Senior Citizens Act would provide old age homes and clubs for senior citizens.

Samajwadi Party is slated to contest the Uttar Pradesh Assembly elections in an alliance with Congress. The SP has offered 26 seats to the Congress in the initial round of discussions, while the Congress has sought 120 seats and is unwilling to accept a lower number, according to sources. The two parties are continuing discussions to reach an agreement on seat-sharing ahead of the Uttar Pradesh Assembly elections.

Samajwadi Party is eyeing a return to power after two back-to-back electoral defeats in the 2017 and 2022 polls. In the last elections, the party won 111 seats.

Samajwadi Party (SP) leader Azam Khan expressed strong confidence in party chief Akhilesh Yadav's political future during the release of the party's election manifesto in Lucknow, asserting that Yadav will repeatedly return as Chief Minister and rise to even greater heights.

With Akhilesh Yadav present on the stage at the manifesto launch, Khan predicted a prominent political trajectory ahead for the SP president.

"Speaking about Akhilesh Yadav today, I can say that he will be Chief Minister again and again, and perhaps even much more. He won't be just here; he will go much further," Khan said.

During his address, the senior SP leader also launched a sharp attack on political adversaries, accusing them of damaging the nation's politics, while recounting the alleged mistreatment of his family during imprisonment.

"The sole aim of certain people is to harm others and Indian politics; they are guilty before both the earth and the heavens. Every atrocity was inflicted upon us in jail. The Enforcement Directorate (ED) and the jail administration crossed all limits of oppression. Innocent and blameless children were sent to jail—something even the British did not do," he alleged.

Meanwhile, in a veiled attack on All India Majlis-e-Ittehadul Muslimeen (AIMIM) chief Asaduddin Owaisi, Khan remarked, "Those who are troubling you these days, you have made them big. He should get some medicine which cures him of the disease of unnecessarily expanding himself, and he should be restored to his original stature."

"There is no huge target before him. There is just a small target — how to not let governments form. He cannot be the kingmaker, but he can spoil others' play. This is a petty and shameful goal," Khan added.

The SP is slated to contest the Uttar Pradesh Assembly elections in an alliance with Congress. The SP has offered 26 seats to the Congress in the initial round of discussions.

FOOD LABELS

glance which nutrients are present in excess and how many. The bench rejected the regulator's concern that pictograms could confuse consumers, holding that text and images together reinforce the message.

The FSSAI must also prescribe a font size that keeps the words prominent and legible, and ensure that brand names, promotional claims and other marketing material on the package do not overshadow the warning, the court said.

The bench extended these requirements to online sales. Fine print is hard to read on a product thumbnail on a phone screen, it observed, but separate pictograms would remain recognisable. A format that works on the shelf but fails on the screen cannot meet the requirement that labels be clear and legible under normal conditions of purchase, the court said.

The court also told the FSSAI not to use the red hexagon to mark beverage categories when a drink is within the nutrient thresholds, saying this could lead consumers to believe the symbol did not necessarily mean a product was high in a nutrient of concern. The regulator must devise a different format for beverage categories.

The court noted that the FSSAI had itself identified total sugar and saturated fat as nutrients of concern in its 2021 consultations and its 2022 draft amendment, and said its later shift to added sugar and added fat, based on the 2024 Dietary Guidelines for Indians issued by the ICMR-National Institute of Nutrition, was not adequately justified. The quantity of added sugar or added fat in a finished product is also difficult to verify independently, it said, which could hamper enforcement and allow manufacturers to evade the warnings.

The FSSAI therefore cannot adopt the 2024 guideline values as they stand. It may decide whether to set thresholds per 100g/100ml or per serving, but the exercise must be scientifically defensible, and the regulator must progressively lower the thresholds over time. The regulator must also draw up an exhaustive, scientifically justified list of exempted foods, framed so that products which ought to carry warnings do not escape. It must monitor whether manufacturers replace sugar, fat or salt with artificial preservatives, emulsifiers and other items.

the Mineral Bearing Land Cess in the 2026-27 budget and earmarked these funds for welfare schemes.

The MMDR Amendment Bill, however, introduced a new section stating that "no tax, cess or such other levy (by whatever name called) shall be imposed by the State Government on mineral rights; or mineral bearing lands, either based on mineral quantity or mineral value or royalty payable...except in accordance with such conditions or restrictions as may be prescribed by the Central Government.."

"They first lost the legal battle in the Supreme Court. Then they brought this amendment to tie our hands. We wouldn't have had issues if the Centre had accrued this money (from the cess), because ultimately it would have come back to us. We are opposing it because they brought the amendment to serve the interests of the private firms. Today, private firms, not state agencies, conduct 90 per cent of the total mining in the country," said Soren.

Soren said the state government was also seeking legal opinion against the amendment. "This money was not a grant or tax. This was compensation for those being displaced; compensation for the farmers who would no longer remain farmers and those who would lose their homes. We are trying to exploit our resources for the betterment of our people, but they are tying our hands," he added.

Officials said the resolution would be sent to the Centre for its perusal. Earlier, soon after the House convened on Thursday, CM Soren moved a resolution seeking the withdrawal of the amended Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulation) Act, claiming its implementation could cost the state around ₹13,000 crore in annual revenue.

Moving the resolution, Soren said the amendment, passed by Parliament in August, would adversely affect the state's financial position and hamper its ability to fund welfare and development programmes.

"The implementation of this Act is expected to result in a substantial annual revenue loss of around ₹13,000 crore for the state government, which will create difficulties in securing the necessary funding for the state's social security, women's empowerment, education, healthcare, rural development and other public welfare schemes," he said.

Soren urged the Centre to reconsider or withdraw the amendment, arguing that Jharkhand's constitutional and financial powers should remain intact.

After a detailed discussion on the resolution, which members from JMM, BJP, Congress, RJD, and smaller regional parties participated in, the Speaker put the resolution to a vote. It passed by voice vote in the absence of the Opposition, which had walked out before the CM's reply. Officials said the resolution would now be sent to the Centre for its perusal.

Besides Prasad's plea, the high court also dismissed similar petitions filed by Rabri Devi, Tejashwi Yadav, Prem Chand Gupta, Rakesh Saksena, Vinod Kumar Asthana, Bhupendra Kumar Agarwal, Sarla Gupta, Lara Projects LLP, Pradeep Kumar Goel, Rakesh Kumar Gogia and Sujata Hotel Private Limited.

According to the chargesheet filed in the case by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI), a conspiracy was allegedly hatched between 2004 and 2014, in pursuance of which the BNR hotels of the Indian Railways in Puri and Ranchi were first transferred to the IRCTC and later, for their operations, maintenance and upkeep, given on lease to Sujata Hotels Private Limited, which is based in Patna, Bihar.

The central agency has alleged that the tender process was rigged and manipulated, and the conditions were tweaked to help Sujata Hotels, a private entity.

The chargesheet has also named group general managers of the IRCTC, V K Asthana and R K Goyal, as well as Vijay Kochhar and Vinay Kochhar, both directors of Sujata Hotels and owners of the Chanakya Hotel.

Delight Marketing Company, now known as Lara Projects, and Sujata Hotels Private Limited have also been named as accused firms in the chargesheet.

The trial court had made a scathing observation that the land and share transactions in the case were "possibly an instance of crony capitalism fostered in the garb of eliciting private participation in the railways' hotels at Ranchi and Puri".

Besides Prasad, the court had framed charges against Pradeep Kumar Goel, Rakesh Saksena, Bhupendra Kumar Agarwal, Rakesh Kumar Gogia and Vinod Kumar Asthana under section 13(2), read with sections 13(1)(d)(ii) and (iii), of the Prevention of Corruption (PC) Act.

Section 13(2) deals with the punishment for criminal misconduct by a public servant and sections 13(1)(d)(ii) and (iii) deal with the abuse of position by a public servant to obtain favours.

The court had also directed that the charge be framed under IPC section 420 (cheating) against Prasad, Rabri Devi, Tejashwi Yadav, Lara Projects LLP, Vijay Kochhar, Vinay Kochhar, Sarla Gupta and Prem Chand Gupta.

"A common charge is directed to be framed against all (14) accused under section 120B (criminal conspiracy), IPC, read with section 420, IPC, and section 13(2), read with sections 13(1)(d)(ii) and (iii), PC Act," the court had said.

The maximum punishment under the PC Act is 10 years, while for cheating, it is seven years.
