Farmers advised timely harvest of wheat amid rising temperature

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Varanasi: With rising temperatures in March and April posing a threat to wheat productivity across the Eastern Indo-Gangetic Plains, experts from the International Rice Research Institute South Asia Regional Centre have urged farmers to carefully monitor crop maturity and harvest on time to minimise losses caused by terminal heat stress.

According to an advisory issued by ISARC, the grain-filling stage begins after flowering and continues until physiological maturity, when grain moisture is around 37%. Thereafter, moisture starts declining. Experts said harvesting should ideally be done at full maturity, though in current conditions, harvesting at 18-20% moisture can help secure yield without losses.

Farmers have been advised to identify maturity through visible signs—yellowing stems and grains that make a cracking sound when pressed with teeth but do not break under fingernail pressure. Delayed harvesting can lead to grain shattering and losses, especially in late-sown crops, which often mature prematurely due to heat exposure.

GOVT CIRCULAR

The advisory also highlighted that grain moisture above 14% can lead to reduced procurement rates or rejection. For safe storage, moisture should be maintained between 12-14%, while seeds meant for longer storage require even lower moisture to maintain germination quality. Experts recommended the use of hermetic or super bags to reduce insect damage and preserve seed viability.

For manual harvesting, farmers should dry bundles for 3-4 days before threshing. However, labour shortages may delay harvesting and increase losses. In such cases, combine harvesters can be a more efficient and cost-effective option, provided they are operated at appropriate speeds to avoid grain loss during separation and cleaning. In lodged crop conditions, farmers should operate the cutter bar closer to the ground at reduced speed for better intake.

'MP-UP will promote growth via religious tourism, ODOP'

Madhya Pradesh chief minister Mohan Yadav during his visit to Varanasi on Tuesday

Varanasi: Madhya Pradesh chief minister Mohan Yadav on Tuesday said that MP and UP would together script a new model of good governance and religious tourism, drawing inspiration from shared cultural heritage and development initiatives.

Yadav said the two states would explore possibilities of economic growth through religious tourism, one district one product (ODOP) and Geographical Indication (GI) tag products branding, marketing and export.

Inaugurating the MP-UP Cooperation Convention-2026 in Varanasi, Yadav said the event will explore options of developing a mega religious tourism circuit by incorporating sites such as Kashi, Prayagraj, Ayodhya, Mathura, Chitrakoot, Ujjain, and Omkareshwar in the two states.

Ahead of attending the conference, the CM visited Kashi Vishwanath temple and toured the temple corridor.

"Govts of Madhya Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh are embracing the mantra of 'development with heritage' and are jointly fostering a shared culture of good governance and religious tourism. This will not only strengthen the ties between the two states but also pave new avenues for public welfare," Yadav said.

He praised CM Yogi Adityanath for establishing a paradigm of good governance in the state by keeping focus on development along with law and order. In view of preparations for the upcoming Simhastha-2028 in Ujjain, the CM said that the experiences from Varanasi would be highly helpful for the Simhastha. Yadav said that studying the arrangements of the Prayagraj Maha Kumbh 2025 and crowd management model during normal days and special occasions at Kashi Vishwanath Dham will help in better management of Simhastha Kumbh. Yadav's visit saw signing of MoUs between KV Temple Trust and Mahakaleshwar Temple Trust as well as between the two states for promotion of ODOP products.

"Kashi is not only among the most sacred places in the world but it is also `karmakshetra' (working field) of PM Modi. His leadership has made India move towards becoming the third largest economy in the world," said Yadav.

Under Prime Minister Narendra Modi's guidance, work on the Ken-Betwa River Linking Project has commenced to benefit the Bundelkhand region of both states by providing drinking and irrigation water facilities, he said, adding that both states are jointly working on a 2,000MW solar energy project in Morena.

Highlighting that the MP-UP convention will provide a shared platform for the industrial capacities, traditional crafts, ODOP and GI tag products, agriculture and food products, investment opportunities and tourism potential of MP and UP, Yadav highlighted that his govt is giving priority to industry and investment activities.

Earlier, UP MSME minister Rakesh Sachan welcomed Yadav and presented the growth story of MSME in nine years of Yogi govt.

UP industrial development, export and investment promotion minister Nand Gopal Gupta Nandi expressed the hope that the conference will prove to be a milestone for cooperation in the ODOP and MSME sectors.

'Maoist-free state poised for expansion'

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Varanasi: Hailing Union home minister Amit Shah's declaration of making India 'Maoist-free', Madhya Pradesh chief minister Mohan Yadav blamed Congress and other opposition parties for keeping the problem alive during their regime for political gains.

Addressing the MP-UP Cooperation Convention 2026 at Hotel Ramada here on Tuesday, Yadav said that led by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and on the resolve of Amit Shah, the 'lal salaam' (final salute) was given to to extremism.

Yadav said all opposition parties, including Congress, who ruled in MP the past, allowed Maoism to flourish and now that state was Naxal-free, the state will witness development of industrial activities and expansion.

He said MP is becoming a hub of new opportunities with its policy-based transparency, vast land bank available for industries, reliable power supply, strong connectivity and investor-friendly environment.
