

200-YEAR-OLD MANUSCRIPTS FOUND IN WEST CHAMPARAN

BETTIAH: The West Champaran administration on Friday stumbled upon two rare and ancient manuscripts, including the Durga Sahasranama Stotra, during a survey conducted as part of Gyan Bharatam Mission, a project of the Union ministry of culture, officials said.

District magistrate (DM) Tar-anjot Singh said that the manuscripts were found in the safe custody of one Dev Prakash Pandey from Kalibhag locality of Bettiah, headquarters of West Champaran district of Bihar. He said that these documents will be preserved and made accessible for wider study and research.

“The Sahasranama Stotra, believed to be around 200 years old, has been identified as one of the rare ancient manuscripts to be uploaded to the Government of India’s important digitisation initiative, the Gyan Bharatam App,” said Singh while speaking about the historical and religious significance of the manuscripts.

Sahasranama Stotra is a devotional hymn that contains a thousand names (thousand names) of a deity. Each name describes a quality, power, virtue, or form of the god or goddess being praised. Another untitled manuscript, believed to be about 100-years-old, is purported to be Sant Sahitya written in Kaithi language. It was also found with Pandey, said Rakesh Kumar, district art and culture officer.

Kumar added that under the Gyan Bharatam mission, manuscripts written on various materials, including paper, cloth and metal plates, and those over 75 years old, are being surveyed and documented across the country. “Following the survey in the first phase, identified manuscripts will be digitised in the second phase and published, if required, during the third phase,” he said.

When contacted, Dev Prakash Pandey, 62, a Bettiah-based lawyer, said the manuscripts are under his custody for the past 40 years now after being handed down from one generation to another. “The Stotra is was written by my great-grandfather Bhola Nath Pandey who was an ardent devotee of Goddess Durga,” said Pandey, adding the other manuscript was handed to his father by his grandfather.

‘Tribhuvan’ blossoms to pay flowery tribute to visionary

PATNA: A newly-developed hybrid rose named “Tribhuvan” was unveiled on Friday during founder’s day 2026 celebrations at The Tribhuvan School, a unique floral tribute to late Tribhuvan Prasad Singh — eminent civil servant, visionary educationist and distinguished intellectual whose life symbolised excellence in public service and nation-building, school authorities said.

Developed by noted rosarians Kasturi and Sriram in 2025, the rose has also received recognition and appreciation from KSG G. Gopalswami Ayyangar & Sons — among India’s oldest and most respected names in rose breeding. “The honour is deeply symbolic. Much like the flower itself, Singh’s life reflected grace, resilience, refinement and enduring impact,” they added.

“This founder’s day celebration at The Tribhuvan School is therefore not merely a commemorative event; it is a reaffirmation of a legacy that continues to shape institutions, inspire young minds and strengthen the ideals of ethical leadership and transformative education,” said

Students of The Tribhuvan School display Tribhuvan, the hybrid rose which was unveiled at the school to pay homage to its founder, the late Tribhuvan Prasad Singh (right) on Friday. HT PHOTO

Mahua Das Gupta, principal of the school.

Late Singh, born on May 9, 1913, joined the elite Indian Civil Service in 1936. “Among his greatest personal passions was horticulture, especially cultivation of roses. Gardening for him was not merely recreation; it was a philosophy of patience, discipline and balance. In an era of intense administrative responsibility, roses represented calmness, contemplation and beauty,” she said.

“The naming of the hybrid rose ‘Tribhuvan’ therefore carries extraordinary emotional and symbolic significance. It connects two dimensions of his life — public excellence and personal grace. The rose stands not only as a floral tribute, but as a living metaphor for a legacy that continues to blossom across generations,” the principal added.

The event celebrated a life devoted to excellence, integrity, scholarship and nation-building. “Today, the school stands as a vibrant reflection of the ideals that he represented — excellence with humility, leadership with ethics and progress with purpose. There are tributes that remain confined to stone and ceremony, and there are tributes that continue to live and bloom. The rose belongs to the latter,” Gupta said.

“In naming a rose after Tribhuvan Prasad Singh, a rare convergence takes place — between nature and memory, between beauty and legacy, between fragrance and inspiration. The rose becomes more than a flower; it becomes a symbol of values that continue to flourish across generations and institutions,” she added.
