Agra: In a case of alleged medical negligence at District Bagla Hospital in Hathras, doctors plastered the wrong hand of a four-year-old boy despite an X-ray confirming a fracture on the middle finger in the other.

Chief medical superintendent Surya Prakash acknowledged the lapse, saying, "We are in touch with the family and have asked them to return so the fractured finger can be treated. A show-cause notice has been issued to the doctor concerned."

DM Atul Vats has directed the health department to take appropriate action.

According to the complaint, Harsh Kumar of Ahvanpur village injured his finger while playing at home. His family rushed him to hospital, where staff allegedly applied plaster to his right hand instead.

The mistake was discovered after Harsh continued crying in pain after he was brought back home, prompting his father, Kanhaiya Kumar, to check and lodge a complaint. "This is sheer negligence," the father said, adding that such errors could have worsened the child's condition.

HC junks plea for 'regular namaz' at Sambhal plot

Krishna Chaudhary

Bareilly: The Allahabad high court has dismissed a writ petition filed by a petitioner seeking security, protection and permission to offer namaz at a private premises of 82.8 sqm at Ikona in Pargana Rajpura area of Gunnaur tehsil in Sambhal.

The order by the bench, presided over by Justice Garima Prasad and Justice Saral Srivastava, and accessed by TOI, stated: "The petitioner claimed ownership of the land on the basis of an alleged registered gift deed dated June 16, 2023, allegedly executed by Deen Mohammad in his favour. He contended that the respondent authorities were restraining prayers and that such interference violated his fundamental rights under Articles 19, 25, 26, 27, and 28 of the Constitution."

DM (Sambhal) Rajendra Pansia told TOI: "The state, through its standing counsel, informed the court that the land in question, khata number 613, is recorded as Abadi land, meant for public use for residential purposes." "The state further submitted that the gift deed does not contain basic revenue particulars. As per the SDM report placed before HC, 'namaz' had traditionally been offered at the location only on Eid, and no restrictions were imposed back then. The petitioner, however, was seeking to introduce regular, large-scale congregational prayers, including participants from outside the village."

HC held that "pleadings were vague and lacked material particulars."

DU graduate, MBA linked to inter-state conversion racket

Agra: Four people, including a Delhi University (DU) graduate and an MBA, were arrested by UP police from Rajasthan and Delhi in connection with an inter-state illegal religious conversion racket. In total, 18 suspects have been held in the case so far, police said.

Agra CP Deepak Kumar told TOI: "Under 'Operation Asmita', launched by CM for the protection of women, four more accused - Jatin Kapoor alias Jasim, Mohammed Hasan, Talmeez ur Rahman and Praveez Akhtar - have been arrested. Kapoor, 32, an MBA and a Delhi resident, works as a freelance web designer. Using expertise in digital space, Kapoor used to lure youngsters for religious conversion. Hasan, 59, a resident of Rajasthan's Deeg district, used to prepare marriage documents for girls. Tamiz, 47, runs a shoe and fruit business, and his location was traced to Kashmir - he was in contact with Abdul Rehman, the main accused in the conversion case. The fourth person, Praveez, a DU graduate, runs a computer hardware shop in Delhi."

According to cops, Kapoor and Praveez were radicalised by the main accused to join the gang. CP Kumar added that 14 individuals were arrested earlier. He said police have rescued over a dozen girls from Rajasthan, Haryana, Jharkhand, UP and Uttarakhand. The case first came to light last year after the disappearance of two sisters, aged 33 and 18 years, from Agra. An FIR was filed at Sadar Bazaar under under relevant BNS sections along with provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2021.

'700 companies of central forces deployed in Bengal'

Joint commissioner of police (traffic) Rupesh Kumar said additional forces had since been deployed at both trouble spots under the supervision of an additional commissioner and a deputy commissioner of police. All surrounding roads were sealed, guardrails installed and access restricted to personnel carrying Election Commission-issued QR-coded IDs. Lord Sinha Road remains entirely shut to civilians.

Election Commission issued a statement citing Calcutta HC's order to the civil and police administration to strictly deal with unlawful activities. "No attempt to disrupt peace will go unpunished," it said. Statewide, 700 companies of central forces have been deployed for "stability and unrest prevention", Election Commission said. All counting centres have three layers of security, supplemented by special patrolling in vulnerable zones.

Prohibitory orders have also been clamped around counting centres at Hastings House complex, APC Polytechnic College, St Thomas Boys' High School, Ballygunge Govt High School and David Hare Training College in Kolkata.

Chief electoral officer Manoj Agarwal told reporters after inspecting a counting centre in Purulia that this security protocol in place for counting day would prove "sufficient" to ensure the electoral exercise is hitch-free.

EC has set up a helpline - 18003450008 - for complaints, assuring confidentiality. Grievances, if any, can also be emailed to wbfreeandfairpolls@gmail.com.

Will demand recall of seven RS MPs: Punjab CM

Following the stormy scenes, AAP govt won a confidence motion moved by the CM, who later said he would take along a copy of motion when he meets President Draupadi Murmu on May 5 and demand recall of the seven Rajya Sabha MPs - six from Punjab - who recently defected to BJP. Opposition members were not present in House when it was taken up by voice vote.

Earlier in the day, there was some back and forth between Mann and Khaira after the CM took exception to Congress member using mobile phone when the Speaker was reading out a resolution proposing enhancement of wages of the working class on Labour Day.

Things reached a flashpoint when CM was leaving the House. Khaira stood up and alleged that Mann had come to assembly in an inebriated state.

'Bihar imam identified through his Aadhaar card'

Initially, police noted the death as an accident. The imam was identified with the help of his Aadhaar card, and the body was sent for postmortem. After an audio recording of the call was widely circulated online, police launched a deeper investigation. In the 32-second audio, Mazhari was heard purportedly saying: "Tabassum, call the cops immediately, these people are thrashing me badly."

Tabassum said on Friday, "When I told my husband to seek help from other passengers, he replied that no one came forward to help." SP (City) Manush Pareek said, "Mazhari was heading from Bareilly to Siwan. On April 27, GRP was informed about the abandoned body. Initially, it was claimed that he fell from train. The audio is under scrutiny. We have assured family that an FIR would be lodged."

Bareilly Junction GRP SHO Sushil Kumar said that Raza was travelling to Siwan on a general ticket. Since the body was found within Bareilly Cantonment police station limits, jurisdiction lies with local police.
