NEET paper leak: CBI arrests 5 people

PTI

JAIPUR

The CBI arrested five persons and conducted searches at multiple locations across the country in the NEET UG paper leak case as protests over the cancellation of the examination intensified on Wednesday and the chorus for Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan's resignation grew louder. One of the accused arrested in Jaipur claimed that influential people were being protected while ordinary people were being harassed.

During the day, a plea was filed in the Supreme Court by the Federation of All India Medical Association (FAIMA) seeking a complete overhaul of the National Testing Agency (NTA) and its replacement with a "technologically advanced and autonomous body" to restore the integrity of medical entrance exams. The CBI arrested Mangilal Biwal, Vikas Biwal and Dinesh Biwal from Jaipur, Yash Yadav from Gurugram and Shubham Khairnar from Nashik with several others suspects being quizzed in various cities and might be arrested later, officials said.

Family members of Dinesh said he and his brother were detained by police for questioning and claimed that they were being falsely implicated.

BITS Pilani PhD scholar found dead at rented flat

7 DEATHS IN 17 MONTHS

- DEC 2024: Om Singh, a second-year student died by suicide.
- MAR 2025: Atharv Desai, a third-year dual degree student ended his life.
- MAY 2025: Krishna Kasera was found dead in hostel room.
- AUG 2025: Kushagra Jain, a third-year student found dead in hostel room
- SEP 2025: Rishi Nair, a second-year student found dead
- FEB 2026: Vaishnavi, a third-year Electronics & Communication Engineering student, ends life in hostel room.
- MAY 2026: Arjun Sabu, PhD scholar, ends life in a rented flat behind institute premises

Industrial Estate. The deceased was seen by the others and was active till around 10.30 pm on Tuesday night," said a source familiar with the matter. The source further informed that one of the flat occupants working in the Verna Industrial Estate had reportedly gone out of Goa for the last few days, while the BITS staff member left for work as usual on Wednesday morning. "The flat also had a maid who used to clean the rooms and had a spare key of the bedrooms. The lady arrived in the morning and cleaned the hall and the other two rooms. When she entered the deceased's room, she found him dead inside the room. She immediately raised an alarm and informed the police," the source added. Police are also probing other possible angles linked to the incident. "Police have reportedly recovered a suicide note from the room stating that no one is responsible for his death," the source said. This is the seventh reported suicide involving a student associated with BITS Pilani Goa oin the last 17 months. While the latest incident occurred at a rented flat outside the campus, the previous six cases had all been reported from within the institute premises, causing growing concern among students, parents and faculty members. The series of tragedies began in December 2024 when Om Priyan Singh, a second-year BE Computer Science and MSc Chemistry student, allegedly died by suicide. Just three months later, in March 2025, Atharv Desai, a third-year dual-degree student, also ended his life inside the campus. The pattern continued in May 2025 when Krishna Kasera, a second-year dual-degree student pursuing MSc Chemistry and BE Electrical and Instrumentation, was found dead in his hostel room. In August 2025, Kushagra Jain, a third-year Economics and Computer Science student, was discovered dead inside his hostel room. Another case was reported in September 2025 when Rishi Nair, a 20-year-old second-year MSc Physics student, allegedly died by suicide, further intensifying concerns within the student community. A recent suicide case was again reported in February 2026 when 20-year-old Vaishnavi Jitesh, a third-year Electronics and Communication Engineering student residing on the campus, was found dead in another suspected suicide case. The repeated incidents have raised serious concerns over student mental health, academic pressure and the effectiveness of counselling and support systems available on the campus. Investigation into the latest case involving Arjun Sabu is presently underway by Verna police. PSI Prisely Carvalho under the supervision of PI Anand Shirodkar.

Student found hanging in Nessai, note mentions competitive exams

PI Nayak said the deceased did not specifically refer to the NEET exam, but stated that he did not want to appear for competitive examinations. The incident occurred late last night when the student was found hanging in his bedroom. His parents contacted the police after finding him hanging from the fan. The post-mortem examination was conducted at the South Goa District Hospital and the student's mortal remains were later handed over to his relatives for the last rites. Though originally from Bengaluru, PI Nayak said the student and his family had been staying in Goa, and that he had completed his schooling in the State.

RGP plunges into deeper turmoil, social media slugfest continues

Parab, meanwhile, continues to enjoy the backing of some key office-bearers, including General Secretary Vishwesh Naik and treasurer Ajay Kholkar among others. Borkar, on the other hand is supported by Dagley, St Lawrence ZP member Trupti Bacal, North Goa General Secretary Licio Roncon, and several UK-based members and supporters. The feud which had been simmering for weeks, had sharpened on Tuesday after Parab began targeting RGP workers in Borkar's Sant Andre constituency and the party's core executive committee expelling Julius Almeida, a panch member from Agacaim. Pressure then mounted on Borkar from supporters to respond and after maintaining a stoic silence for several days he finally broke it but merely insisted there were "no divisions in the party" while denying rumours of a crossover to the Congress. Parab, on the other hand, went ballistic with multiple Facebook posts on social media which lashed out at Borkar's aides but on Wednesday morning, he doubled down, writing another cryptic message which read: "In today's world, humility is seen as diplomacy, and arrogance as frankness." Borkar on the contrary has remained outwardly calm, avoiding direct comment on the feud and restricting his social media posts to highlighting daily constituency-level work, with no mention of the party crisis. With the rival factions trading posts and accusations, the RGP's internal turmoil is now fully exposed and the party, once united around Goan identity issues, now faces a test of survival as its leaders battle in full public view.

Coastal body seeks compliance report on sealing 6 illegal jetties compliance report. The next hearing in the matter has been scheduled for July. The NGT bench comprising Justice Dinesh Kumar Singh and expert member Dr Sujit Kumar Bajpayee, during its hearing on January 22, had strongly criticised the coastal authority for allowing the jetties to continue operations under the guise of procedural formalities. The tribunal had observed that while principles of natural justice and hearings were necessary, the immediate priority should have been to halt unauthorised activities and seal the illegal structures without delay. The matter arose from a petition alleging large-scale violations of Coastal Regulation Zone (CRZ) norms and navigation regulations by several private jetty operators across Goa. During the proceedings before the tribunal, the Captain of Ports department had informed the NGT that nine jetties had been permitted under provisions applicable to temporary floating structures. However, the GCZMA admitted that only three jetties possessed valid permissions under CRZ regulations. The tribunal had also directed the GCZMA and the Captain of Ports department to prepare a comprehensive inventory of all private jetties operating across the State.

Goa pilots 'net positive p'yat' model in 3 villages different sustainability models under varied local conditions. While Calangute has been identified as an urban and tourism-intensive zone, Harvalem represents a developing semi-rural village and Cavrem-Pirla has been chosen as a rural and ecologically sensitive region. "The idea is to understand how renewable energy and sustainability interventions can work across diverse socio-economic and geographical settings," Shirodkar said.

Renewable energy at core

The proposed interventions differ across villages. In Harvalem, the focus is on rooftop solar systems for homes and public buildings, solar-powered community infrastructure and electrified clean cooking systems for women-led self-help groups (SHGs). Commercial induction cooktops powered by solar-electric systems are also planned for community kitchens. In Cavrem-Pirla, the project seeks to integrate renewable energy with eco-tourism through solar-powered homestays, biogas units using organic waste and solar irrigation pumps under the PM-KUSUM scheme. Meanwhile, Calangute's model centres around sustainable tourism practices, including energy-efficient tourism infrastructure, renewable-powered public facilities, improved waste and sewage management, green mobility systems and digital governance solutions.

Cross-cutting measures across all three panchayats include LED street lighting, battery energy storage systems, solarisation of public institutions, EV charging infrastructure and waste-to-energy systems.

Economic gains, green benefits

Officials said the initiative is expected to deliver both economic and environmental benefits to residents. The shift to renewable energy and electric cooking systems is expected to reduce electricity and LPG expenditure for households and SHGs, while green enterprises and eco-tourism could create new livelihood opportunities and local employment in installation, maintenance and operations. For tourism-heavy regions, the government also sees sustainability branding as an opportunity to attract environmentally conscious visitors. Environmental gains are expected in the form of lower greenhouse gas emissions, reduced fossil fuel dependence, improved waste management and better conservation of ecologically sensitive areas.

Challenges ahead

However, officials acknowledge that implementation challenges remain, particularly in densely populated and tourism-driven areas like Calangute. "Tourism zones have fluctuating and seasonal energy demand, which makes balancing consumption and renewable generation more complex," officials noted. Waste management pressure, space constraints for rooftop solar infrastructure, behavioural change among residents and high upfront investment costs are among the key hurdles anticipated during implementation. Grid integration and energy storage will also be crucial to maintaining "net positive" energy status during peak demand periods. The project is currently in the pilot and demonstration phase and will proceed through baseline assessments, infrastructure rollout, community engagement and monitoring. Funding is expected through a convergence model involving State government support, central renewable energy schemes, rooftop solar subsidies, PM-KUSUM assistance, CSR partnerships and climate finance mechanisms. GEDA officials said a State Steering Committee has already been constituted for implementation of the project. While the first committee meeting was held earlier, the second meeting is scheduled for Wednesday. If successful, the Net Positive Panchayat initiative could eventually be expanded across Goa's 191 panchayats, creating village-scale sustainability models for urban, coastal, hinterland and tourism regions alike.

Vijay-led TVK wins trust vote in TN Assembly

PTI

CHENNAI

The four-day-old TVK government in Tamil Nadu crossed a major political hurdle on Wednesday, with Chief Minister C Joseph Vijay comfortably winning the trust vote in the state assembly by 144 votes in favour and 22 against amid a DMK walkout and a dividedAIADMK, whose 25 rebel MLAs backed the actor-politician.

The floor test, which solidified Vijay's position as the chief minister, also exposed a full-blown split in the AIADMK, as 22 MLAs supporting party chief Edappadi K Palaniswami voted against the government, while the C Ve Shanmugam-SP Velumani faction voted in favour of the TVK.

As opposition leaders, including Palaniswami and DMDK legislator Premalatha Vijayakanth, accused TVK of horse-trading, the chief minister countered with a punchline that became the highlight ofhis speech.

Trump gets rousing reception in China on arrival for talks with Xi

BEIJING: US President Donald Trump was accorded a red carpet welcome on Wednesday upon his arrival in Beijing for talks with his Chinese counterpart Xi Jinping on a host of issues, including the Iran war and a trade deal.

Trump was welcomed by Chinese Vice President Han Zheng at the airport, a rare honour that broke with usual diplomatic protocol.

Officials say most of the top leaders visiting China, including Russian President Vladimir Putin, a close ally of Xi, were received by State Councillors, a high-ranking post of the ruling Communist Party of China.
