Demolish all illegal structures within 15 km of IB, says Shah

Hamza Khan
Jaipur, May 27

UNION HOME Minister Amit Shah on Wednesday directed the authorities to strictly enforce a zero-tolerance policy against illegal structures within 15 kilometres of the International Border and demolish them, officials said.

Shah issued the directions while chairing a high-level security review meeting in Bikaner to comprehensively assess security-related issues concerning the border districts along the Indo-Pakistan Border (IPB).

It was attended by Rajasthan CM Bhajan Lal Sharma, senior state government officials, and District Magistrates and Superintendents of Police of five border districts – Bikaner, Jaisalmer, Barmer, Sri Ganganagar, and Phalodi. It was also decided to formulate a 360-degree security framework for every border district with the idea that an integrated approach "will actively involve local citizens, the state government machinery, and all concerned security agencies to ensure comprehensive and robust border management."

Shah also emphasised a coordinated border management strategy involving the Border Security Force (BSF), Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT), Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB), and the state government to effectively address infiltration, narcotics smuggling, encroachment, terror financing, and other trans-border crimes.

He directed District Magistrates to assume enhanced responsibilities, including ensuring full legal and financial compliance by all banks, verifying major business establishments, scrutinising their funding sources, tracking mule accounts and shell companies, identifying fake Aadhaar cards, and preventing smuggling.

The instructions came a day after Shah said in Bikaner that anti-drone systems will be deployed along the International Border in the next six months, in view of cross-border smuggling, underlining the need to view BSF's traditional role "from a new dimension."

After Mira Road, Bakrid goat disputes spill across Mumbai

Manish Kumar Pathak
Mumbai, May 27

Tension erupted at Sagar Park housing complex in Ghatkopar after the managing committee 'granted permission' to keep as well as slaughter goats on the premises, on Wednesday. SANKHADEEP BANERJEE

A DAY after clashes erupted in Mira Road over goats being housed inside a residential complex ahead of Bakrid, the controversy spread across Mumbai on Wednesday, with residents in Ghatkopar and Goregaon launching similar protests against keeping and proposed slaughter of sacrificial animals inside housing societies.

Even as police filed FIRs against right-wing activists accused of fuelling tensions in Mira Road, civic authorities and police were forced to step in at several societies to revoke permissions for Qurbani, remove goats and prevent fresh communal flare-ups ahead of Eid-ul-Adha.

The Mira Road incident took place at Poonam Estate Cluster 1, where protests by right-wing groups outside the society escalated to clashes between members of two communities late Tuesday. Police registered three separate FIRs naming members of right-wing groups for allegedly attempting to provoke communal tension by bringing a pig near the premises in response to goats being housed inside the complex.

In the first FIR, four persons identified as Durgesh Jaiswal, Harsh Singh, Mohit Chaurasia and another unidentified individual were booked under provisions related to assault on public servants and promoting enmity between communities. "The intention behind bringing the pig appeared to be to create enmity between the two communities, and legal action will be taken soon," a police officer said.

Another FIR was registered against 40 to 50 persons for allegedly violating prohibitory orders under the Maharashtra Police Act during the protests.

A third case stemmed from a complaint by local shopkeeper Sohail Khan, who alleged that a group of protesters assaulted him and stopped him from opening his shop inside the complex. Police said no arrest was made but security was increased in the area to prevent any flare-up. "Residents of the building are cooperating with the police," said Kashimira senior inspector Rajendra Kamble.

Despite the FIRs, the protests quickly found resonance across Mumbai, where residents raised similar objections to goats being kept or slaughtered inside housing societies.

A confrontation unfolded at Satellite Gardens Phase 2 in Goregaon's Gokuldham area, where the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) revoked earlier permission granted for Qurbani after tensions surfaced between members of two communities within the society. Muslim residents maintained they had obtained BMC permission and argued that the practice had existed in the society for years.

"The permission to carry out slaughtering of animals has been revoked," Dindoshi police station senior PI Mahendra Shinde said.

Muslim residents claimed the BMC had been granting permission for slaughter for years, except in 2025 when it was cancelled. Others, however, opposed the move citing sanitation and public health concerns, and said animal sacrifice should only be conducted at designated slaughter facilities.

BJP corporator Priti Satam backing residents opposing the move, said, "We will not allow sacrifices to take place openly inside the premises.

In Ghatkopar's Sagar Park Society in Amrut Nagar, tensions escalated after the managing committee allegedly granted permission to keep goats and conduct slaughtering within the society premises. Several residents objected and approached both police and the BMC, demanding removal of the animals. Following complaints, civic officials reached the spot, removed the goats and revoked the society's permission.

Varanasi's decades-old goat market sealed before Bakrid

Manish Sahu
Lucknow, May 27

The sealed goat market that had been operating from a section of a public park in Benia Bagh area, in Varanasi on Wednesday. EXPRESS

RIGHT BEFORE Bakrid, the Varanasi Municipal Corporation has shut down the decades-old Benia Bagh goat market, citing complaints of overcrowding and poor sanitation. The move sparked protests by traders, who accused officials of acting without prior notice during the peak festive trading season.

Popularly known as 'Bakra Market', it is one of eastern Uttar Pradesh's largest and best-known seasonal livestock bazaars that has been functioning for nearly four decades. Situated about a kilometre from the Kashi Vishwanath Temple, it usually operates for nearly a week ahead of the festival, drawing traders from districts, including Gorakhpur, Ghazipur, Mau, and Jaunpur. Civic authorities said permission was granted for the market to operate, but was later revoked. "The Municipal Corporation revoked permission for the Benia Bagh market after receiving complaints related to sanitation and hygiene," said Varanasi Municipal Commissioner Himanshu Nagpal. He added that the action was taken after officials conducted an inspection in response to the complaints.

Authorities sealed the premises, a 6,000 square feet area, four days after the sale started and indicated that the market will be closed permanently. Traders, however, said they received no prior notice about the closure and alleged that officials arrived at the site and ordered them to vacate the premises within just 30 minutes.

PRO, Smart City (Varanasi), Shakambhari Nandan Sonthalia, denied the charge and said permission was revoked Friday and a direction was issued to traders to vacate the market — which had been operating from a section of a public park in Benia Bagh area — in three days. When shopkeepers and livestock traders did not vacate the market, officials said teams from the administration and police cleared the area Monday, resorting to strict enforcement measures to shut the site down.

The operation triggered anger and panic among traders, many of whom were present when officials arrived to enforce the closure. Traders are also uncertain about where they will now buy and sell livestock a day before Eid. Many said the abrupt action threatened to cause heavy financial losses, particularly for small traders who had travelled from different districts with animals purchased on credit.

"We borrowed money by mortgaging valuables and taking loans from moneylenders at high interest," a trader said. "If we are unable to sell our animals and recover the money, how will we repay our debts?" Another said he had no option but to take his goats back home, claiming that no other market in Varanasi would allow them to sell livestock ahead of Eid.
