

CAFE-2: Bailing out non-compliant OEMs will stall green tech, say experts

S Ronendra Singh
New Delhi

The Centre's decision to waive CAFE-2 penalties for major auto makers could stall green technology investments, as companies might rely on purchasing carbon credits rather than achieving emission targets, auto industry sources said.

According to sources, this decision could also prompt foreign auto makers to import or assemble more gas-guzzling vehicles into India.

"The government has already provided a five-year window for generating the carbon credits, which essentially means there will be no penalty for any company. Retrospectively, this has been done to bail out the companies from paying any penalties. So, what is the use of making such policies?" said one of the industry veterans. Industry executives pointed out a stark contrast: While some companies are actively investing in low-emission technologies like electric vehicles, CNG and hybrids, the government is bailing out original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) that have openly flouted CAFE norms.

'FINING COMPLIANCE'

"So, basically you are penalising those OEMs who are reducing CO₂ emissions from their vehicles by introducing various technologies and investing billions of dollars on research and development (R&D). Penalties should not be reduced or relaxed beyond a level that there is no motivation of exercising or working towards meeting those carbon emission targets," the official added.

Last week, the Ministry of Power (MoP) wrote to MDs and CEOs of 18 vehicle manufacturers inviting suggestions or objections to the said amendments.

According to the amendments, the Centre is completely bailing out all major OEMs, including Hyundai Motor India (HMIL), Kia India, Mahindra & Mahindra (M&M), Honda Cars India, Renault India, Skoda Auto Volkswagen India and Nissan India, from paying heavy penalties collectively amounting to ₹2,700 crore for violating CAFE-2 norms.

Furthermore, the Centre has extended the compliance runway by allowing auto-makers to offset their emissions debits all the way through September 30, 2027, stretching beyond the previously suggested March 31, 2027 deadline via the exchange of carbon credits.

"This step by the government is fundamentally penalising those companies who have invested heavily on meeting the CAFE norms. OEMs who neither invested in technology to meet the norms nor paid the penalties, will be enjoying with all the benefits now," said another executive from the industry.

The executive said that those companies who have been penalised were all profit making OEMs, and none of them were even a loss-making company, so such a decision by centre to bail out these companies was a surprise. "The government had already drastically reduced the penalties to around ₹2,700 crore from around ₹8,800 crore earlier, so we don't know behind this logic of bailing out these profit-making companies. How do you justify this in the national interest, we don't get it," said the executive.

'GREEN BY PROXY'

According to another industry veteran, these amendments are like cross-border carbon trading or international carbon offsetting, where an individual or a company can buy carbon credits from projects located in foreign lands.

Sugar industry renews push for dedicated E100 fuel dispensing stations

Prabhudatta Mishra
New Delhi

The Indian Sugar & Bio-Energy Manufacturers Association (ISMA) has renewed its demand for the government to allow ethanol distilleries to set up dedicated E100 fuel dispensing stations, arguing that the move is critical for scaling up flex-fuel mobility and easing the financial stress facing the ethanol industry.

In a letter to the Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas last month, ISMA sought permission for the "installation of dedicated E100 dispensing infrastructure" co-located with sugar biorefineries — a proposal first made in February 2023.

POLICY FRAMEWORK

In the letter, ISMA Director General Deepak Ballani said hydrous E100, widely used in Brazil for over four decades, is a low-carbon, domestically produced transport fuel that can enhance energy security while reducing dependence on fossil fuels.

The demand comes as ethanol distilleries grapple with excess capacity. The industry has created production capacity of around 2,000 crore litres, while oil marketing companies require only about

1,100-1,200 crore litres annually to achieve the 20 per cent ethanol blending target. With procurement slowing, some distilleries have already approached courts over lower offtake by OMCs. The government has been treading cautiously amid concerns over the E20 blending programme. On July 4, it asked automobile manufacturers to explain the benefits of E20 fuel after complaints about reduced mileage. While the industry defended the programme, it acknowledged that E20 results in some loss of fuel efficiency.
