

- Reviews the implementation of Central and State flagship programmes
- Stresses that the conservation of Kolleru Lake, a Ramsar Wetland of International Importance, must receive top priority
- Proposed developing the Kolleru Bird Sanctuary into a world-class ecotourism destination

CHAIRMAN of the Twenty-Point Programme Implementation Committee (Viksit Bharat-Swana Andhra), Lanka Dinakar, has directed officials to make Eluru a model district by prioritising the protection of Kolleru Lake, quality education, healthcare, safe drinking water, and rural infrastructure in line with the visions of Viksit Bharat @2047. Andhra @2047.

Reviewing the implementation of Central and State flagship programmes at the Eluru District Collectorate, Dinakar stressed that the conservation of Kolleru Lake, a Ramsar Wetland of International Importance, must receive top priority.

He instructed officials to strictly implement Supreme Court and High Court directions on encroachments, prepare an action plan for 10,425.99 acres of de-notified land based on the Sukumar Committee recommendations, and prevent pollution caused by aquaculture waste.

He also called for protecting the habitat of 189 species of resident and migratory birds and improving the livelihoods of over 14,000 fishermen through the Pradhan Mantri Matsya Sampada Yojana. The meeting, attended by district collector Vetri Selvi, MLAs Kamineni

Srinivas, Chintamaneni Prabhakar, Roshan, and senior officials, also reviewed rural development initiatives under the Viksit Bharat Rozgar and Aajeevika Guarantee Mission (Gramin). Officials were asked to prepare comprehensive plans for rural infrastructure, groundwater recharge, village digitisation, horticulture, and PM Gati Shakti connectivity projects. Reviewing the health sector, Dinakar directed officials to strengthen maternal and child healthcare, identify high-risk pregnancies, reduce maternal and infant mortality, accelerate Ayushman Bharat Health and Wellness Centres, and intensify seasonal disease prevention. In education, he stressed quality school infrastructure, sanitation, safe drinking water, stronger Parent-Teacher Meetings, and measures to eliminate school dropouts. He also instructed officials to complete Jal Jeevan Mission and AMRUT projects on schedule and develop long-term drinking water plans.

Dinakar further proposed developing the Kolleru Bird Sanctuary into a world-class eco-tourism destination, stating that effective implementation of welfare and development programmes would help Eluru emerge as a model district while advancing the twin goals of Viksit Bharat and Swarna Andhra by 2047.

THE Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls was successfully completed in East Godavari district on July 25. District Election Officer and Collector Kirti Chakraborty said. The collector stated that election forms were distributed to all 18,46,723 registered voters in the district, of which 16,65,571 forms, accounting to 90.20 per cent, have been dispatched. She said the exercise was successfully carried out with coordinated efforts by Booth Level Officers (BLOs), election staff and revenue officials across the district. According to the collector, 18,46,897 ASD (Absent, Shifted, Dead) discrepancies were identified during the revision process. Of these, 36,623 cases have been verified and necessary action has been initiated, she added.

She also said the number of pending DSE cases has come down significantly and the remaining cases would be disposed of expeditiously in accordance with the Election Commission's guidelines.

The collector further informed that 18,46,897 cases were detected across the district, representing only 4.61 per cent of the total electorate. These cases will also be examined and final decisions will be taken expeditiously as per guidelines of the Election Commission of India, she added.

In a significant initiative to promote the all-round development of future healthcare professionals, Dr NTR University of Health Sciences (Dr NTR UHS) here has launched the curtain raiser for its first-ever Inter-Collegiate Cultural Meet-2026. The curtain raiser was jointly inaugurated on Tuesday by Vice-Chancellor Dr P Chandrasekhar and Registrar Dr T Sai Sudheer at the university campus.

Speaking on the occasion, Dr Chandrasekhar said the university is committed not only to academic excellence but also to nurturing students' creativity, leadership, teamwork, and overall personality development. Registrar Dr Sai Sudheer emphasised that participation in cultural activities enhances students' self-confidence, communication skills, leadership qualities, and team spirit.

The Inter-Collegiate Cultural Meet-2026 will be held from August 12 to 14 at NRI Medical College, Chinakakani, Guntur district. The three-day state-level event will feature competitions in singing, classical dance, group dance, instrumental music.

THE Department of Civil Engineering at SRKR Engineering College will organise a two-day international conference titled 'Sustainable Advancement in Green Infrastructure 2026 (SAGI-2026)' on August 7 and 8, College Secretary and Correspondent Sagi Ramakrishna Nishanth Varma announced.

Releasing the conference poster on Tuesday, Nishanth Varma said the event would bring together researchers, academicians, industry experts and policymakers from across the country and abroad to discuss innovative solutions for sustainable infrastructure development. College Director Dr
