CWMA directs Karnataka to comply with Cauvery order

Release 9,000 cusecs of water a day for the next 15 days, it tells Karnataka; while State urges the authority to adopt a cautious approach, T.N. says there was a backlog of 17.49 tmc ft till August 23

B.S. Satish Kumar
BENGALURU

The Cauvery Water Management Authority, which met in Delhi on Tuesday, has endorsed the Cauvery Water Regulation Committee's direction on Monday to Karnataka to ensure water release to Tamil Nadu at a rate of 9,000 cusecs a day for the next 15 days.

According to the CWMA's order, the releases, which total up to 11.66 tmc ft, should commence from Tuesday (a flow of 11,574 cusecs of water for 24 hours equals one tmc ft). Earlier, Karnataka appealed to the CWMA to reduce the directed quantum of flows from 9,000 cusecs to 6,000 cusecs per day, by recognising its severe basin distress as well as compliance with the earlier directions.

Water woes: Karnataka told the CWMA that its Cauvery basin area was facing a severe hydrological distress. K. MURALI KUMAR

It appealed to the authority to adopt a cautious approach while asking for any further releases and re-assess the situation after observing the forthcoming northeast monsoon.

Karnataka submitted before the CWMA that its Cauvery basin area was facing a severe hydrological distress due to which cumulative inflows into its four reservoirs in the Cauvery basin were about 49.18% below the 30-year average.

Excess released

Karnataka stated that it had fully complied with the earlier order of the CWMA. In fact, Biligundlu had realised 18.748 tmc ft of water against the ordered 15.940 tmc ft from July 29 to August 23, marking an excess release of 2.807 tmcft, it said.

Tamil Nadu claimed that there was a backlog of 17.49 tmc ft till August 23 from Karnataka. It appealed to CWMA to direct Karnataka to ensure a total release of 28.386 tmc ft with effect from August 24 to September 7, comprising backlog of 17.49 tmc ft and pro-rata share of 10.896 tmc ft.

Man arrested for uploading wife's private videos

The Hindu Bureau
KOLLAM

The Keralam police have arrested a man following a complaint filed by his wife, who alleged that he secretly recorded their private moments and posted them on adult websites.

The accused, who had gone into hiding after the case was filed, was apprehended, presented before the court, and remanded in judicial custody.

According to the complaint, the couple, who had been residing in the U.K. for several years after a decade-long relationship, returned to their home town recently. The woman stated that her husband engaged in severe domestic abuse when she confronted him after discovering that private recordings made during their time abroad were shared online without her consent.

The scope of the probe broadened after their four-year-old daughter provided statements regarding inappropriate behaviour by her father. Authorities incorporated provisions under the POCSO Act into the existing charges.

CO: Carbon monoxide. High concentration in air reduces oxygen supply to critical organs like the heart and brain. At very high levels, it can cause dizziness, confusion, unconsciousness and even death.

PM2.5 & PM10: Particulate matter pollution can cause irritation of the eyes, nose and throat, coughing, chest tightness and shortness of breath, reduced lung function, irregular heartbeat, asthma attacks, heart attacks and premature death in people with heart or lung disease
