

National Commission for Protection of Child Rights summons India head after finding response ‘inadequate’

An email sent to Meta seeking its response did not elicit a

- Part of Meta: WhatsApp, Facebook, Instagram, Threads
- Instagram faced government scrutiny after reports of child sexual abuse material surfaced
- Meta said it removed 160,000 accounts linked to child exploitation
- The platform also removed over 4 million suspicious accounts

Earlier this year, Instagram updated its policies around content shown to children and said all users below the age of 18 would be able to view only content similar to what they would likely see in an age-appropriate movie. All users under 18 will be placed in this category going forward, and they will not be able to change the settings without a parent's permission. Meta had said in a blog post announcing the changes.

Teenagers will not be able to follow accounts that regularly share content inappropriate for those under 18. Even if the name or bio of such accounts suggests that the content within them is inappropriate for teenagers, Meta will restrict children from viewing them, the platform had then said.

The appeal came up before a division bench led by Justice

ANI had sued OpenAI, alleging that its news reports and other original content were being used by the AI company for commercial purposes without permission.

Dairy-related consumption expected to raise emissions levels

- India's annual protein-related emissions could reach 1.92 gigatonnes of carbon dioxide equivalent (Gt CO₂e) by 2070
- This is more than seven times the estimated climate-safe threshold of 0.25 Gt CO₂e
- India currently imports 90% of processed plant protein isolates

“We have this deep legacy of plant-based foods, especially legumes and pulses,”

Talking about the cost of the transition, Sahu said producers, retailers, consumers, governments and civil society organisations would have to share the costs.

When asked about the controversy, External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said at a media briefing in New Delhi: "We are aware of the opening of a temple by the BAPS Sanstha in the Paris area. As to the particular issue pertaining to the Tower, this is a matter purely between the entities concerned."

In a statement issued by the CGT trade union, the staff condemned "workplace instructions that led to female employees being sidelined, replaced and rendered invisible on the basis of their gender". The tower opened as usual on Tuesday, after the operating company, Société d'Exploitation de la tour Eiffel, acknowledged that limited "interactions with women" had been requested by a BAPS delegation, and that the "conditions should not have been accepted". The BAPS Hindu temple in Paris has issued an apology and said it understood the concerns raised over the incident, adding that they took them "very seriously".
