To manage the massive influx of pilgrims, the AI-based Devotee Monitoring System has been awarded to Amaravathi Software Innovations Pvt. Ltd. for ₹13,39,300. It includes facial recognition and database matching for security tracking, real-time displays of expected darshan queue waiting times, automatic number plate recognition for vehicle pass validation, and a Central Command Dashboard with 24/7 technical support.

The board also approved the installation and operation of smart laddu prasadam vending machines, also known as laddu ATMs. Sri Raj Computers & IT Solutions emerged as the lowest bidder securing the contract at a landed price of ₹6,95,000. The contract includes five years of maintenance support alongside providing fast, transparent, and contact-free prasadam distribution.

Other technology-related approvals include automated vehicle and pedestrian access control systems, temporary CCTV networks, and LED screen installations at key locations for live coverage during the festival.

Highlighting the temple's expanding international outreach, the board also approved the deputation of a six-member Vedic staff delegation to Australia.
