

10 govt teachers sacked over 'fake' eligibility test certs

State Edu Dept Preparing To File FIRs Against Them
Yogesh Nagarkoti | TNN

Teachers were given three opportunities to present their cases during departmental proceedings. Most of them appeared at the first two hearings, but more than half skipped the third

ASHARAH CHAUDHARY Bageshwar chief education officer

Bageshwar: Uttarakhand education department has terminated services of 10 govt primary school teachers in Bageshwar after an inquiry found that the 2024 Uttarakhand Teacher Eligibility Test (TET) certificates submitted by them were allegedly fake. The department is preparing to register FIRs against them, officials said on Friday.

The action was taken on Thursday after Uttarakhand Board of School Education, Ramnagar, found that the marksheets and roll numbers mentioned on the certificates did not match its records. In an inquiry report issued on Aug 30, the board's chief administrative officer said the certificates had been verified against the original tabulation register.

Bageshwar chief education officer floor Asharham Chaudhary said the teachers were given three opportunities to present their cases during departmental proceedings. "Most of them appeared at the first two hearings, but more than half skipped the third. They also failed to produce valid original documents to establish the authenticity of the certificates," Chaudhary said.

Officials said several of the teachers were posted at primary schools in Kapkot and their terminations have created an immediate need for replacement teachers, particularly in rural schools already facing staff shortages.

The findings have raised questions over how the certificates were accepted during the recruitment process without being verified against the board's original records, and whether officials responsible for checking the documents will also face scrutiny.

The affected schools are Govt Primary School, Sasania, Kanda; Govt Primary School, Resma, Kandi; Kapkot; Govt Primary School, Uchhat; Govt Primary School, Sialdunga; Kapkot; Govt Primary School, Channuli, Kapkot; Govt Primary School, Nargoli, Kanda; Govt Primary School, Theil, Kapkot; Govt Primary School, Jalmani, Kapkot; Govt Primary School, Sundi; and Govt Primary School, Udayari Jaghana, Kapkot.

State GST recovers ₹2.25cr as 'tax evasion' from pvt co

Pankul Sharma | timesofindia.com

Dehradun: Uttarakhand tax department has recovered ₹2.25 crore from Eden Senior Living & Wellness, a private real estate and wellness company operating an assisted-living facility for senior citizens, after alleged irregularities were detected in the payment of GST on flat sales, officials said.

Special Investigation Branch (SIB) of the department inspected the company's premises on Thursday, with the survey continuing on Friday. Officials said the company had discharged its GST liability on the sale of flats by using input tax credit (ITC) claimed on construction-related purchases, instead of paying the liability in cash.

The department assessed the firm's total tax liability at ₹12.50 crore, following which the company deposited ₹2.25 crore in the state exchequer and its directors sought time to pay the remaining amount.

Deputy commissioner Suresh Kumar told TOI that the company was not legally permitted to use ITC for the liability in question. "To substantiate the irregularities, the investigating team collected documents, forms and information from Real and Regulatory Authority (RERA), Mussoorie Dehradun Development Authority, district magistrate's office, mining section and other departments," Kumar said.

55yo trader duped of ₹1.5cr in crypto scam

Dehradun: An FIR has been registered at Clement Town police station against six people for allegedly duping a 55-year-old local trader of nearly ₹1.5 crore by promising high returns on investments in online foreign exchange and cryptocurrency trading, police said on Friday.

The complainant, Chandra Vallabh Pant, a resident of Clement Town, approached police on Thursday. The accused include Lavish Choudhary of Muzaffarnagar; Navin Singh, Anil Kumar Pradeshi, Karan and the unidentified director of a Noida-based investment firm.

SI Vivek Bhandari, who is investigating the case, said that the trader was first contacted by him in 2024 and one of them later visited his home to explain the investment plan and gain his confidence.

"They promised him monthly interest of 5% on the investment amount along with returns of 10% per month," Bhandari said.

Police said when Pant later tried to withdraw his money, he was allegedly asked to deposit more. The amount he invested eventually reached nearly ₹1.5 crore, but he became suspicious when he was unable to withdraw the money and the accused started responding.

Garbage dumping continues along Doon rivers despite crackdown

Dehradun: Garbage continues to pile up along rivers and streams across city with dumping rampant at several stretches despite the district administration stepping up enforcement and directing civic bodies to identify illegal dumping sites and take action against offenders.

A TOI spot check found plastic and household waste dumped along stretches of the Bindal and Rishpana rivers and smaller streams. At Kanwall Road and Tilak Nagar, along the Bindal, residents alleged that waste from nearby shops is routinely dumped into the river.

"Garbage collection vehicles come here, but many traders still dump waste into the river at night after closing their shops, either to avoid paying or because there is little fear of consequences," said Vinay Jugal, a Tilak Nagar resident.

Similar conditions were found along the Rishpana at Kandoli and towards Kandi, where waste was scattered along the riverbanks. Large bundles of waste tied in polypropylene sacks were also found at several spots, indicating that waste collected from different locations was being brought there for dumping.

The situation persists despite the district administration seeking tighter monitoring of river stretches. On Sept

5, district magistrate (DM) Ashish Chandra directed urban local bodies to immediately identify unauthorised dumping sites, fix responsibility on agencies operating in these areas and register FIRs against people caught dumping waste into rivers. Officials were also asked to conduct regular inspections of dumping yards and strengthen surveillance at vulnerable locations.

Officials were also asked by the DM to examine the feasibility of installing trash screens at drains and culverts to intercept waste before it enters rivers. A pilot project is being considered on the Rishpana.

DMC chief municipal health officer Anand Shukla said, "The corporation is working towards installing nets along vulnerable river stretches to restrict access and prevent dumping from both sides."

former PM Lal Bahadur Shastri on their birth anniversaries.

The minister later shared a meal with students, who presented a cultural programme and performed 'Raghupati Raghav Raja Ram'. Addressing the gathering, Oram spoke about the Centre's focus on education and development of tribal communities.

"The central govt is spending Rs 2 lakh crore every year for which 428 were functioning comprehensive development and upliftment of tribal society," he said. On education, Oram said, "Ekklava Model Residential Schools will be equipped with modern facilities and developed as centres of excellence on lines of Jawahar Navodaya Vidyalayas, Kendriya Vidyalayas and Sainik Schools."

He said 728 EMRSs had been sanctioned across the country, of which 428 were functioning

Biharigarh's 'pakora biz' hit; tourists use Delhi-Dehradun expressway, skip town

Tapan Sushel | TNN

Roorkee: For decades, Biharigarh was a familiar pause on the road to Dehradun, where travellers would pull over for hot potato pakoras and cups of tea before continuing their journey. But with the Delhi-Dehradun Expressway now carrying much of that traffic past the market, the once-busy roadside food stop is beginning to feel the change.

Around 25 eateries along the old Saharanpur-Dehradun highway now depend largely on local customers, as vehicles using the expressway pass over the market on a flyover.

For shopkeepers, the fall in business can be measured in potatoes. An outlet that once used around 20 to 25kg a day for pakoras now uses around 8kg on average.

"Biharigarh has been known for decades for its crispy and easily digestible pakoras. Travellers would routinely stop here for pakoras and tea before continuing their journey to Doon," said Manoj Jaiswal, an eatery owner.

back and have suggested a connecting service road or access point, along with parking and public toilets near the eateries.

"People will stop if there is easy access, parking and basic facilities. Biharigarh's pakoras have a distinct identity and preserving this food culture should also be part of the development of highway network," said Mohan Saini, 46, owner of Mohan Pakorewale.

For Saini, the connection runs through three generations. His grandfather, Manoj Saini, started the eatery nearly 50 years ago, and the family now fears that a roadside tradition built over decades may slowly lose its place.

Mussoorie chokes on traffic jams as tourists flock in long weekend

Anmol Jain | TNN

Mussoorie: Mussoorie witnessed severe traffic congestion on Friday as tourists began arriving for the long weekend. Picture Palace and Gandhi Chowk saw heavy traffic, while long queues of vehicles formed in Muzang and Lal Tibba areas. On the Mussoorie-Dehradun road, serpentine queues stretched for several kilometres from Shiv Mandir to the eco-tax barrier at Kalkhuti.

A damaged stretch at Pani Wala Bend, where the road has narrowed and allows only one-way movement, emerged as the main bottleneck on the route. "There was heavy traffic, but the one-way movement at Pani Wala Bend caused queues to stretch for nearly four to five kilometres," said a commuter.

Residents travelling between Mussoorie and Dehradun posted videos and photographs of the congestion on social media. Residents also posted photographs of vehicles parked on Motilal Nehru Road, alleging that the parking was obstructing traffic.

Cabinet minister Ganesh Joshi, who was travelling to Mussoorie for a programme, was also reported to be delayed by the congestion.

PWD additional assistant engineer, Pradeep Singh Shahi, told TOI that police personnel had been deployed to regulate traffic at Pani Wala Bend and that repairs to the damaged stretch would take some more time.

Short-term schools for migrant children to come up in Doon

Tannayee Tyagi | timesofindia.com

Dehradun: District education department will open special short-term schools for children of migrant workers who are unable to complete the academic year in regular schools. It also plans to launch a portal to track their educational status.

Chief education officer Govind Jaiswal told TOI that similar schools had earlier been introduced in Nainital. "Dehradun also has a good number of migrant families that usually come to the city after the monsoon season. They then leave in March-April. Children from such families usually drop out of regular schools and are unable to complete the academic year. With special schools, we can help them assimilate better into our system and ensure that their academic futures do not die," he said.

Officials said provisions for such schools existed under the Right to Education (RTE) Act. The education department has approached the district administration to develop a portal which beneficiaries can be registered with the help of the police, civil society organisations and schools.

"The portal will carry the educational records of such students and can be used not just in parts of Dehradun/Uttrakhand, but across the country. A child who has had to drop out or move away can pick up from where they left off," Jaiswal said.

The department will also coordinate with local police units, which are usually aware of labour camps and colonies, to identify eligible children and their families. Officials said a survey was under way to ascertain the number of out-of-school children in Dehradun district. Recently 44,479 girls who dropped out of govt school system over the past year were identified, officials said.
