@timesofindia.com

Agra: Aligarh Muslim University (AMU) on Friday announced Nov 5 as the date for elections to its students’ union for the 2026-27 academic session, ending a 19-day student protest and hunger strike demanding the restoration of polls that had not been held since 2018.

Vice-chancellor Prof Naima Khatoun announced the decision after accepting the students’ demand and ended the hunger strike of student Yasir Fahad by offering him juice, following which the protesting students called off their agitation. The university also removed Prof Mohammad Naveed Khan as proctor and appointed Nafes Ahmed as the new proctor of the Proctorial Board.

Students demanded restoration of polls that hadn't been held since 2018

Describing the announcement as a “historic victory”, Mohammad Rayyan, a BA Economics student, said students had been campaigning for the restoration of union elections for the past eight years. He said the election process would begin with the publication of the voters’ list on Oct 26.

Rayyan also claimed that the suspension of the student on hunger strike would be revoked within a week and that FIRs allegedly registered against students would be withdrawn. These claims were made by Rayyan and were not part of the election schedule announced by the university.

According to the election schedule, voters’ lists will be displayed by the respective deans at 10am on Oct 26. Students can submit requests for corrections until 2pm on Oct 27, after which the final lists will be published at 4pm the same day.

Nomination papers will be filed on Oct 29, while scrutiny of nominations will take place at 4pm.

Polling will be held at the respective faculties on Nov 5 from 9am to 5pm. Counting will begin at 7pm and continue until the results are declared. The university will announce the counting venue separately.

Prof Javaid Talib of the department of law has been appointed chief election officer for the AMU Students’ Union elections. Prof Nazia Hasan of the department of English at Women’s College will serve as chief election officer for the Women’s College Undergraduate Students’ Union elections.

Raped & flung into canal, 16yo clings to branch

Sandeep.Rai@timesofindia.com

Meerut: A 16-year-old girl gang-raped and pushed into the Upper Ganga Canal by two men survived by clinging to a branch until residents and police rescued her in Khurja. The two accused were arrested following an encounter near the canal Thursday night, police said on Friday.

Her cries for help were heard around 3.30am on Wednesday. Residents called police and helped pull the girl out.

Police said the girl lost her father years ago. After her mother remarried and moved to Rajasthan, she lived with her grandmother. Following her grandmother’s death around two years ago, she joined her mother but later left, alleging mistreatment. She then moved to Bulandshahr and stayed with a woman.

The survivor told police that the woman’s husband and another man took her away on a motorcycle Tuesday night on the pretext of getting her a job in Delhi. The men gang-raped her near the canal and pushed her into the water before fleeing. A case was registered under BNS section 70(1) (gang rape), and relevant provisions of the PcoSA Act.

CO Shobhit Kumar said police received a tip-off that one of them was searching for his missing cellphone near the canal. “When our team challenged him, he opened fire and was shot in the leg in retaliatory firing,” Kumar said. The second accused was also arrested.

Bageshwar: A total of 240 students from 33 development blocks across six border districts of Uttarakhand are participating in the fifth state-level Children’s Science Festival, which began in Bageshwar on Friday.

The participating districts are Pithoragarh, Champawat, Bageshwar, Chamoli, Uttarkashi and Rudrapur. Organized by the Uttarakhand State Council for Science and Technology (UCOST), the festival was inaugurated by chief minister Pushkar Singh Dhami at Vivekananda Vidya Mandir Inter College in Mandalsera.

At the event, chief minister Dhami announced plans to establish a ‘Lab on Wheels’ in every development block and science and innovation centres in all districts. He also announced Rs1 crore to promote research and innovation. “AI would be introduced in school STEM laboratories and the use of robotics and drone technology in education would be encouraged,” he said.

The festival includes scientific models, quizzes, poetry in Hindi and English, science plays and sessions on artificial intelligence, cybersecurity and safe use of the internet.

This year’s central theme links climate change adaptation and mitigation with disaster risk management. UCOST director general Durgesh Pant said, “The festival gives students an opportunity to demonstrate their scientific abilities and is aimed at encouraging scientific temper.”
