Iran submits proposal to reopen Hormuz within seven days

NEW YORK

IRAN has submitted a proposal to the United States to end their war and reopen the Strait of Hormuz within seven days, its foreign minister told media outlets in New York.

"If certain conditions are met, the strait will be open within seven days and talks will start," Abbas Araghchi, who is in the US for the UN General Assembly, told media outlets including the New York Times and The Guardian.

Japanese news agency Kyodo was the first to report the proposal, citing a senior Iranian official on Tuesday.

Iranian media, however, denied the Kyodo report, while authorities in Tehran have not clarified their position.

Araghchi also met for talks on Tuesday with US President Donald Trump's envoy Steve Witkoff. Iran has previously set out seven conditions for ending the war and reopening the strait. According to Araghchi, as quoted by the New York Times, the latest plan calls for a cessation of all hostilities in the Middle East for seven days, including in Lebanon. It also calls for release of frozen Iranian assets estimated to be worth at least $12 billion, as well as the lifting of sanctions on Iranian oil and an end to US naval blockade of Iran.

On the seventh day of the truce, Iran would reopen Hormuz. Araghchi said he was waiting for a US response to the plan and maintained that China supported the proposal.

Chinese President Xi Jinping is visiting the United States this week where he is meeting with Trump for talks. Hossein Mohebi, a spokesman for the Revolutionary Guards, the ideological arm of Iran's military, told AFP in an exclusive interview on Tuesday that ending hostilities in Yemen was also among Tehran's demands. The US and Iran signed a memorandum of understanding in June that aimed to end the war, reopen the strait and launch talks on Iran's nuclear programme. But the deal broke down shortly afterwards when Iran fired on commercial ships in Hormuz.

UNSC condemns Houthi attacks on Saudi Arabia

UNITED NATIONS

THE United Nations Security Council on Friday condemned escalating attacks on Saudi Arabia by Yemeni Houthi rebels in a rare show of unity from the UN's top body.

The Houthi have imposed a naval blockade on Saudi Arabia, hitting its tankers, seizing swathes of Yemen's Red Sea coast vital for oil exports and causing energy prices to jump, while also raining missiles on the kingdom.

A ground campaign being waged by Houthi rebels against Saudi-backed Yemeni forces is also threatening a humanitarian crisis, with 1,25,000 people displaced across Yemen since the start of September, according to the UN's humanitarian office.

"The members of the Security Council condemned, in the strongest terms, continued Houthi attacks against the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, including attacks impacting civilian and energy infrastructure, which have resulted in the injury of civilians, including women and children," said the rotating president of the Council, French UN envoy Jerome Bonnet, delivering a joint statement.
