

‘No security risks reported at Puja pandals in B’desh’

There were provocative social media posts and public rallies against celebrations. This year, the situation is different. Bangladesh Nationalist Party-led govt wants the community to celebrate with freedom and fervour. They want to showcase Bangladesh's diversity and rich cultural heritage before the world," added Dhar.

Dhar attended a high-level meeting chaired by home minister Salahuddin Ahmed on the security arrangements for Durga Puja, a few days ago. He also informed that govt's Hindu Religious Welfare Trust had increased the grant for puja celebrations to Rs 5cr this year, against the previous year's grant of Rs 4cr.

Meanwhile, another BPUP member said that desecration of idols were reported from at least 11 districts last year. "This time, there've been four incidents so far - in Sylhet, Rajbari, Panchagarh and Tangail districts. And the govt also promptly took necessary legal measures... Law enforcement agencies told us that their personnel will be deployed near the pandals, but organising committees should also have their volunteers to maintain a vigil," he said, requesting anonymity.

Earlier, home minister Ahmed had said: "No security risks have been reported regarding Durga Puja pandals in Bangladesh so far. Having said that, the law enforcement agencies will be on high alert with quick response protocols in place..."

MEA: US' history shaped by generations of immigrants

Vance had reinforced the announcement by declaring that American workers cannot be laid off and then replaced with foreign indentured servants. He also insisted that only top-tier, elite foreign talent that's not available domestically should be brought in. Ministry of external affairs (MEA) countered Vance's comments as it said in a formal statement that such descriptions were unwarranted and ignored the fact that Indian professionals in the US are highly educated and skilled contributors to its economy and innovation ecosystem.

"Indeed, the history of the US itself has been shaped by generations of immigrants whose labour, enterprise and innovation have contributed to its growth and prosperity. Resorting to terminology that carries painful historical and colonial legacy connotations is deeply offensive," said the ministry, adding it will continue to follow developments related to the issue.

The unusually blunt pushback suggests India's patience is wearing thin after a series of bilateral setbacks, ranging from the trade and tariffs, immigration and the talent mobility to India's ties with Russia and Washington's Pakistan outreach. Union external affairs minister S Jaishankar had recently warned that the US' growing ties with Pakistan would hurt the India-US relationship.

The ministry also cautioned in its response that the steps announced by the United States do not advance the shared ambitions of both countries. It said talent mobility adds value to both economies, creating opportunities for Indians and helping US companies equally with cutting-edge talent, innovation, research, productivity, competitiveness and job creation, besides creating shareholder wealth in the United States. "This is therefore an area of tremendous mutual benefit for the two countries and our expectation is that all stakeholders in this process can appreciate this fact," said Indian govt.

BMC plan to release 1k trapped monkeys in forests alarms dept

Keshav Agarwal | TNN

Pilibhit: The proposed release of more than 1,000 monkeys trapped in Bareilly into forest areas of Pilibhit and Shahjahanpur has raised concerns among forest officials, who said the plan lacks mandatory permissions and provisions for medical examination of the animals. Authorities of Pilibhit Tiger Reserve (PTR) and Pilibhit forest division alerted forest range officers on Wednesday about the proposed release following a trapping drive ordered by Bareilly Municipal Corporation (BMC).

BMC issued a work order to a Mathura-based contractor last week to capture the monkeys. However, neither the civic body nor the contractor has sought permission from the forest authorities, officials said.

Officials also said absence of medical examinations before release could pose a risk of transmission of contagious diseases to wildlife.

"Monkeys trapped from civilian areas cannot be released in protected or reserve forests. Their release in unreserved and unprotected forests is subject to two mandatory conditions — medical examination of each monkey based on its tag and prior permission from the divisional forest officer concerned," said PP Singh, chief conservator of forests, Bareilly zone, who also holds additional charge as Pilibhit Tiger Reserve field director.

BMC commissioner Sanjeev Kumar Maurya said norms for trapping drive did not include provisions for tagging or medical tests of monkeys.
