Centre clears ₹2.12 lakh crore package for defence procurement

DOMESTIC CAPABILITY. Ministry states that nearly 82% of the procurements will be made indigenously

Dalip Singh
New Delhi

Self-propelled tracked gun systems, helicopters, different classes of drones and counter-drone systems and active offboard decoy systems (AODS) for ships to create false targets are among the big-ticket procurements carrying a total value of ₹2.12 lakh crore that received in-principle administrative approval from the Defence Acquisition Council (DAC) on Monday.

Chaired by Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, the DAC gave nod to the proposal for the procurement of high mobility vehicles (HMV), gun shot response systems (GSRS), light multi role helicopters (LMRH), very short-range air defence systems (VSHORADS), platform-based counter unmanned aerial systems (C-UAS), unmanned aerial system brick long range, surveillance UAVs, integrated surveillance and strike systems, and long range kamikaze drone systems, said the Ministry of Defence in a statement.

The HMVs will enhance operational capabilities, logistic support and mobility in challenging terrains while the self-propelled tracked gun systems will provide matching mobility and firepower to mechanised formations.

TOP PRIORITIES. The proposal includes the procurement of high mobility vehicles, helicopters, air defence systems, unmanned aerial systems and multiple surveillance systems ANI

APPLICATIONS

The GSRS, which is also called a gunfire locator, is an automated tactical technology designed to instantly detect, locate and analyse hostile gunfire, and will serve as a force multiplier providing real-time situational awareness of the forces.

The light multi role helicopters (LMRH) will be used by both the Army and the Air Force for reconnaissance and surveillance, combat, search and rescue of troops, humanitarian assistance and disaster relief, among others, said the Ministry.

The VSHORADS — a fourth-generation, man-portable air-defence system (MANPADS) with which the Army wants to replace its aging fleet of legacy systems, such as the Russian Igla-1M — is designed to engage new generation small size aerial threats.

While C-UAS will enhance the survivability of tanks in the modern battlefield, the surveillance and drone systems will enhance the intelligence gathering and targeting capabilities of the Army.

For the Navy, approval was given for acquiring active offboard decoy systems (AODS) and other major naval platforms.

The AODS will enhance the credibility of anti-missiles defence, especially against modern anti-ship missiles of adversaries.

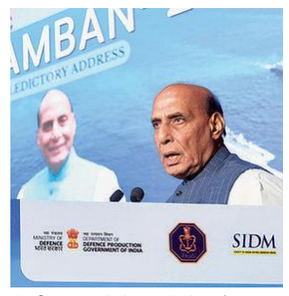

The indigenously-designed and constructed major naval platforms will possess modern-day warfare capabilities and enhance the combat capability of the Navy.

According to the MoD, IAF's proposals got a go-ahead for the procurement of special utility helicopters, air defence systems, weapons and Mobile X-Band Doppler Weather Radar Systems to enhance its air defence and war fighting capabilities. The X-Band Doppler Weather Radar System will provide high-resolution, localised weather surveillance in forward areas.

Out of the total in-principle administrative nod accorded, the Ministry stated that approximately 82 per cent of the procurements will be made from Indian industry.

Rajnath calls for 'Aatmanirbharta 2.0'

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh at Swavlamban 2026 PTI

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Monday called for rolling out 'Aatmanirbharta 2.0' in the defence sector, with emphasis on the development of top-end, state-of-the-art technologies, strengthening research & development (R&D) and building resilient supply chains to reduce import dependence and achieve technological superiority.

The push for 'Aatmanirbharta 2.0' will contribute to the vision of Viksit Bharat@2047, Singh said in his address at the fifth edition of Swavlamban, the Navy's naval innovation and indigenisation seminar.

He also emphasised the need to build on the gains of the first phase of self-reliance achieved under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, stating that defence innovators with futuristic vision and scientific discipline could play the role of 'impact players' in pursuing more challenging technological goals.

STRATEGIC NEED

He underlined the need to indigenously manufacture products that are cost-effective, operationally superior and globally competitive.

The Minister described supply chain management as a strategic imperative directly linked to national security which demands a dynamic roadmap that sets clear timelines for achieving self-reliance in each item, identifies the technologies to be developed and the industries for driving their innovation, and outlines the resources required to achieve these objectives.

He referred to the R&D culture in countries such as Israel, South Korea and the US, where innovation, he said, is embraced as a way of life, with failure being viewed as an opportunity to learn. He insisted on evolving a deep-rooted culture of research and innovation in India through stronger industry-academia collaboration, greater encouragement in educational institutions and increased opportunities for the youth to pursue careers in R&D.

INDIAN TALENT

According to the Minister, over 4,000 proposals had been submitted against 229 challenges issued by the Navy iDEX, which reflected the depth of Indian talent and the enthusiasm of entrepreneurs as they have developed solutions in naval systems, sensors, communications and other critical areas.

Singh stated that the next phase of aatmanirbharta must focus not only on the quantity of indigenous products but also on their quality, efficiency and affordability.

He emphasised that self-reliance must strengthen national security as well as economic resilience.

"Our government has ensured that a lack of funding does not become an obstacle to the aspirations of our talented youth. Naval contracts worth over ₹1,900 crore demonstrate that our efforts are delivering tangible results," he said.

'Parliaments have responsibility to listen to voices of young'

Shishir Sinha
New Delhi

Amid Gen Z protests over various issues, Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla on Monday said Parliaments had a vital responsibility to listen to young voices and understand their hopes and concerns.

He also highlighted that regional conflicts, wars, economic instability, trade tensions, terrorism and climate change across the world affect everyone.

Birla was addressing the inaugural ceremony of the 12th BRICS Parliamentary Forum, held at Parliament House. Parliamentary delegations from 11 member countries and 10 BRICS partner countries are attending the two-day conference.

BRICS nations account for nearly half the world's population and about a third of its land, along with a significant share of the global economy and trade.

PARLIAMENTS' ROLE

Drawing attention to the hopes and aspirations of the younger generation, Birla observed that today's youth had growing access to quality education and technological knowledge, along with an immense desire to innovate, excel and contribute to society. Their aspirations must be met with meaningful opportunities, dignity and an enabling environment where their talents can flourish.

"Parliaments have a vital responsibility to listen to young voices, understand their hopes and concerns, and create pathways through which their energy, creativity and capabilities could be channelled into nation-building," he said.

GLOBAL CHALLENGES

Noting that the world was in a period of profound uncertainty, Birla highlighted the mounting challenges posed by regional conflicts, wars, economic instability, trade tensions, terrorism and climate change.

"Their consequences transcended national boundaries," he said and called for a spirit of collective responsibility.

"In such a challenging global landscape, dialogue, diplomacy and cooperation assume even greater significance.

Parliaments, as vibrant expressions of the people's will, could serve as bridges of understanding, strengthen mutual confidence, ease international tensions and help advance peaceful and constructive responses to global challenges," Birla said.

India to highlight regional security at Asean meet

Our Bureau
New Delhi

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh is set to lead the Indian delegation at the 13th Association of Southeast Asian Nations (Asean) Defence Ministers' Meeting (ADMM)- Plus in Cebu, Philippines, on October 28-29. During the high-level security forum, Singh will address key regional and international security concerns.

On the sidelines of the meet, the Defence Minister will hold bilateral meetings with counterparts to review ongoing defence ties with the nations and explore ways to further strengthen strategic partnerships, said the Ministry of Defence on Monday.

The Philippines is the chair of the ADMM-Plus for 2026. Under the construct of ADMM-Plus, India is co-chairing the Experts Working Group on Counter-Terrorism with Malaysia for the cycle 2024-2027. India's active participation in the ADMM-Plus mechanisms underscores the deepening defence diplomacy in Southeast Asia under the Act East policy, said the MoD.

COOPERATION

ADMM-Plus is a platform for Asean member states (Brunei, Cambodia, Indonesia, Lao PDR, Malaysia, Myanmar, Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, Timor Leste and Vietnam) and its eight dialogue partners (India, the US, China, Russia, Japan, South Korea, Australia and New Zealand) to strengthen security and defence cooperation.

AI's impact must be evaluated at a task level, finds IIT-M report

Our Bureau
Chennai

Rather than analysing whether AI will take away a job, we should assess its ability to automate a bundle of tasks within a job, a White Paper on AI's labour market impact from Indian Institute of Technology Madras (IIT-Madras) researchers has suggested.

The study by the Centre for Responsible AI (CeRAI), an interdisciplinary research group at the Institute's Wadhwani School of Data Science and Artificial Intelligence (WSAI), argued that the size of this impacted bundle varies with task structure, sector, regulatory setting and the economics of AI access itself.

The paper also highlighted an AI-cost geography, particularly pertinent for developing countries like India where cheap, 'good-enough' AI diffuses quickly across routine jobs like BPO, bookkeeping and MSME quality inspection, while frontier-dependent uses such as legal research and diagnostic imaging remain concentrated in urban enterprise settings.

POSITIVE IMPACT

To ensure that AI has positive implications, the paper suggested the promotion of affordable task-focused AI tools, especially for small businesses. It also recommended more investments towards research about AI and jobs in India as well as providing clear ways for workers to move into new jobs as AI is used more.

NOT ALL JOBS FOR AI

"This paper challenges the idea that AI always takes away jobs. Most jobs have tasks and only some of those can be undertaken by AI.

The effect depends on the tasks, the industry, rules for AI and how much it costs to use AI.

We also looked at who gains from these changes and who is affected," Balaraman Ravindran, Head, CeRAI and WSAI, IIT-Madras, and one of the authors of the paper, said.

The White Paper was released during a recent industry conclave on AI Governance 2026.
