

CPM to strengthen grassroots engagement in Kasaragod district

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kasaragod

THE CPM'S two-day extended district committee meeting has resolved to strengthen its grassroots engagement and expand the party's base beyond its traditional strongholds in the southern part of the district, towards the northern region where it lacks sufficient strength.

The meeting also reviewed the reasons for the party's poor performance in the assembly elections, including in its traditional strongholds, and concluded that it needed to engage more closely with people at the grassroots level, said CPM district secretary M Rajagopalan, briefing the media at the party office on Friday.

The LDF remains on the back foot in the region north of the Chandragiri river, which includes the Kasaragod and Manjeshwar assembly constituencies. In the 2026 assembly election, incumbent IUML candidate A K M Ashraf recorded the constituency's highest victory margin of 29,252 votes. The Left's vote share is believed to Six new faces in district committee

The extended district committee has decided to induct six more party workers into the district committee. They are CITU's P Manimohan, AIDWA's T K Chandramma Teacher, SFI's K Sabish, DYFI's M V Rajeeesh, and CPM area committee office-bearers C Ramachandran (Bedakam) and P Kunhikannan (Trikaripur).

have contributed to Ashraf's margin, as the LDF's votes fell from the usual 40,000-plus to 21,212.

Commenting on the setback, Kunhambu, who accompanied Rajagopalan at the media briefing, said the LDF had not lost its traditional vote bank but had failed to secure those votes in this election for various reasons, including the communal consolidation of votes.

Rajagopalan said the CPM would take active steps to bring Kannada-speaking linguistic minorities into the party fold.

E-auto drivers seek parking space, passes in Kasaragod

They allege hostility from drivers of conventional autorickshaws

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kasaragod

THEY SWITCHED to electric autorickshaws, hoping to benefit from government incentives and a permit-free operation. But for many e-auto drivers in Kasaragod town, the shift to cleaner mobility has brought a new struggle—finding a place to park and pick up passengers without facing hostility from drivers of conventional autorickshaws.

Seeking an end to the frequent confrontations at existing autorickshaw stands, e-auto drivers drove their vehicles to the Kasaragod municipal office on Wednesday and demanded special passes and dedicated parking spaces. They alleged that drivers of petrol and diesel autorickshaws routinely harass them at the stands, arguing that permission to ply on roads does not entitle them to park or pick up passengers there.

Addressing mediapersons, the drivers said the absence of dedicated stands had forced them to depend on parking spaces designated for conventional autorick-

shaws, leading to frequent disputes. "There are frequent disputes at the autorickshaw stands because they say we may have permission to ply on the roads but not at the stands," said Radhakrishnan, an e-autorickshaw driver.

Sajeewan, an office-bearer of the electric autorickshaw drivers' association, said the municipality's delay in deciding on special passes and dedicated parking spaces was aggravating tensions between the two groups. The disputes have, at times, escalated into altercations and police cases, leaving e-auto drivers apprehensive about operating their vehicles. Many had sold their old autorickshaws and borrowed money to switch to electric vehicles.

"We are scared even to run our autorickshaws because of the frequent clashes. Allotting a dedicated stand in the town and granting special passes to a fixed number of e-autorickshaws will resolve the disputes to a great extent," said Shafeek Hameed, another driver.

The drivers said they had submitted petitions to the municipality earlier but were yet to receive a favourable response. Similar disputes had surfaced in cities such as Kannur, Kozhikode and Thrissur, they said.

Delivery trip leads autorickshaw driver into a rescue mission

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kasaragod

WHAT BEGAN as a routine visit to deliver a photograph turned into an hour-long battle to save a life for autorickshaw driver Pappachan Konoor, 55, and daily wageer Moni, in his 60s, at Nattakkal in Kasaragod on Thursday evening.

Pappachan, a resident of Malom in the high ranges of Kasaragod, had reached the house of Elamma Ambattuparambil at Nattakkal on Thursday evening to deliver a photograph of her deceased husband.

Just as he arrived, Elamma received a call from the daughter of her neighbour, Eliyamma Valiyaparambath, alerting her that her 62-year-old mother had fallen into the well on their property. Elamma immediately informed Pappachan, who rushed to help. Eli-

The well into which Eliyamma fell yamma had just returned from Pariyaram Medical College Hospital after receiving treatment for Alzheimer's disease.

Having lost her sense of direction, she accidentally fell into the well, which had a parapet barely knee-high. Her husband and daughter watched helplessly as she struggled in the water, repeatedly going under and resurfacing.

Pappachan did not hesitate. He grabbed a rope and climbed down into the well.

For nearly an hour, he battled the water to keep Eliyamma afloat. At 5.4 ft tall, he found the water level above his head. With little room to stand firmly, he struggled to keep himself steady while ensuring that the woman did not sink.

"I struggled to keep my feet on the bottom, but I had to keep the woman afloat so that she could breathe," Pappachan told mediapersons after the recue. Meanwhile, Eliyamma's family began pumping water out of the well in an effort to lower the water level and help Pappachan find a foothold. By then, however, Eliyamma had fainted.

Neighbours alerted the Fire and Rescue Services station at Cheemeni, about 33 km away. As the team made its way to the spot, Pappachan began to lose strength after spending so long in the water.

That was when Moni stepped in. He climbed down into the well to help Pappachan. With both men exhausted but determined not to let Eliyamma sink, they held her afloat until the rescue team arrived.

The Fire and Rescue Services personnel reached the spot with a rescue basket and pulled Eliyamma out. Pappachan was too weak to climb out on his own and asked the rescuers to bring him and Moni out using the same basket.

Senior Fire and Rescue Officer Vineesh Kumar K praised both men for their courage and timely intervention, which helped save Eliyamma's life. She was taken to hospital, where her condition remained stable.

Pappachan had some experience working in wells, having cleaned his own well. But keeping an unconscious woman afloat in water deeper than his height was a gruelling challenge. Moni, too, put himself at risk by climbing down to help when Pappachan. Their efforts ensured that Eliyamma was kept afloat until professional rescuers arrived.

"Fortunately, everything ended well," Pappachan said.

Missing boy from Thrissur found dead in Kasaragod

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kasaragod

A 15-YEAR-old boy who went missing from the Kodungallur police station limits on Wednesday was found dead in a lodge in Kasaragod town on Thursday evening. Thrissur Rural police had suspected his involvement in the circulation of a morphed nude image of a girl studying in his class.

The boy who had left home for tuition on Wednesday morning checked into a lodge near the KSRTC bus station in Kasaragod on Wednesday evening. Lodge staff found him hanging in his room on Thursday evening. During a search of the room, the police found his identity card and informed the Kodungallur police. However, the boy's alleged role in circulating the image remains unconfirmed, as he went missing before the police could question him.

CPM to protest against ESA draft in 3 villages

Kannur: The CPM will stage protests at Cheruvanchery, Kottiyur and Aralam in Kannur district against the seventh draft notification on Ecologically Sensitive Areas (ESA) in Kerala, which includes these three locations, said CPM district secretary K K Ragesh on Friday. He blamed the UDF government for the issue, saying the LDF government had submitted a scientific report in 2024 identifying only 8,590 sq km as ecologically sensitive areas in Kerala. In contrast, the UDF government had estimated the ESA extent at 9,993 sq km in a report submitted to the Centre in 2015. The Centre is reluctant to accept the revised report, which Ragesh said was prepared using more scientific methods than the earlier one. "The Centre has been asking how the state can now go back on a report that it had itself approved," he said.
