Wild elephant electrocuted in Chittoor

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chittoor/Vijayawada

A wild elephant died in agricultural fields near Chukkavaripalli village in Irala mandal, along the Tirupati-Chittoor district border, on Saturday morning. The elephant is suspected to have come into contact with high-tension power lines and died of power shock.

Farmers who went to their fields on Saturday morning noticed the elephant lying dead and alerted the Forest Department officials. The incident site had high-tension electric wires running at a low height, raising suspicion that electrocution could have caused the animal's death. The elephant's body reportedly had three marks believed to have been caused by contact with electric wires.

According to local farmers, three elephants had entered the agricultural fields on Friday night. Wild elephants have been frequently moving through the forest areas around Chukkavaripalli and Gubbalavaripalli villages in Irala mandal and Kakarlavaripalli and Silagondimoola areas in Pakala mandal, damaging crops and raising concern among farmers.
