BMC takes down Dia Mirza Diwali clip, sparks row

Richa.Pinto@timesofindia.com

Mumbai: A political storm erupted after BJP-led BMC deleted from its social media pages a clip of actor Dia Mirza urging citizens to shun firecrackers as part of its anti-pollution campaign for Diwali involving celebrities, following objections by city BJP chief Ameet Satam.

The move drew flak as appeals by other celebrities, including actors Madhuri Dixit and Swapnil Joshi and cricketer Ajinkya Rahane, remained online, and prompted even BJP's ally Shiv Sena to question the selective outrage. The opposition accused BJP of politicising an environmental awareness campaign.

The row escalated after Mumbai mayor Ritu Tawde of BJP labelled Mirza "anti-Hindu"; questioned the choice of naming her a campaign ambassador; cited her purported opposition in the past to the Narmada dam project, Uniform Civil Code and a statement by PM Narendra Modi; and said she would be blacklisted from everything associated with BJP or Mahayuti. She said Satam's post reflected the position of all BJP corporators.

Mirza, who is the UN Environment Goodwill Ambassador, told TOI: "Diwali celebrates the triumph of light over darkness, knowledge over ignorance, and hope over despair. Why would anyone be critical of a video the Bombay high court and BMC have made me record in public interest? The video was recorded with the intention of encouraging a healthier and more mindful celebration. Air pollution is a matter of public health, and every effort towards reducing it is a step towards a better environment for all."

The civic administration did not issue any public statement on the issue. Celebrities were roped in for the civic Diwali campaign amid rising pollution levels on Bombay HC's nudge. Mirza is learnt to have recorded and sent a video to BMC herself, at no cost to the civic body, after being officially requested to do so.

BMC posted her clip on Sunday morning. "While celebrating Diwali we should take care of the environment & health. The pollution being caused owing to firecrackers is harmful to all of us. My appeal to all of you is that celebrate Diwali not with noise but happiness," she said in the video.

In a post on X the same night, Satam said, "We don't need lessons on how to celebrate #Diwali from [Mirza]. Our traditions are deeply rooted in our culture." Soon after, BMC pulled down Mirza's clip.

HC to Imran: Right to protest not available to you as OCI

To further clarify this aspect (state would have the right to deport a person out of India in a given case) and clarify its stand, Centre agreed to file an affidavit," the Bombay HC order said.

The HC said that actor Imran Khan's counsel V R Dhond "fairly acknowledged the limitations of an OCI card holder, who is not an Indian citizen". It was hearing Khan's challenge to the FRRO's "arbitrary" notice.

"You cannot behave like an Indian citizen. You are not even remotely associated with the SIR process," said the CJ Tripathi orally to Khan, via Dhond. "The right to protest is not even available to you as an OCI..." added Justice Sethna. Dhond said they were not getting into the legality of the constitutional rights but under Article 21 — right to life and liberty available to non-citizens — principles of natural justice do accrue.

The CJ asked what Khan was doing at the protest site and how he was connected. "You will have to categorically make a statement that you have no association with the protest... you had no remote cause... If an Indian was doing this in another country, would it have been permissible or tolerated?" the bench orally questioned.

Dhond said Khan's case is he has no affiliation with the protest organisers and was merely passing by and curious on seeing the protesters.

FRRO's counsel Singh, citing a compilation and judgements, argued it was not an isolated instance and that

Khan "instigated" people on social media. "It is a misleading statement that out of curiosity he went there to check... He is part of the protest... The Centre requires no foundational basis to expel a foreigner from India," submitted Singh.

Khan has been in India since he was two years old, for the past 42 years, and should have been heard, said Dhond. As public prosecutor Anjali Helekar pointed to the FIR against Khan, Dhond submitted that all offences are bailable and the actor was not summoned for any probe.

Singh said the actor is a US citizen and Centre is empowered to expel him: "It is the Centre's discretion. A visa too doesn't mean a foreigner has rights to enter India."

The bench remarked, "This case is purely distinguishable... He has on his OCI registration said he is unemployed." The judges said to Khan, "Why don't you accept India citizenship? You work and live here. You make films here. You are a celebrity. Why don't you apply for Indian citizenship... You have to give a categorical undertaking that you will not participate in any such protest as you are an OCI... and an unconditional apology... You (Khan) have everything and recognition pan India. Your one statement would have decisive impact (on fans)."

The bench orally said, "It is least expected. You (Khan) are a responsible person. Literate and highly educated. Come from a responsible family. You have a great following. Since childhood you are in India. And the country has never raised such an issue against you in the past... you cannot behave or be placed on a par with Indian citizens." The bench, on seeing Centre's compilation, said, "You cannot say, 'I was a novice and had no idea'." Dhond sought a copy of the compilation, saying they cannot tender fresh material across the bar.

The CJ at one point said smilingly that Khan has lived here for so long that he "forgot that perhaps you are an OCI". He noted Khan's apology and posted the matter to Dec 7. The bench orally said to Dhond: "Must tell your client that filing an apology doesn't mean it is a green signal to say or do anything... You can go to US and cast your vote and participate in any protest there..."
