HC says temple a 'establishment' i guard payout cas

Chennai: A temple is an "establishment" employees who die on duty are entitled to pensation as workmen, Madras HC has r confirming a labour commissioner's deci

Justice K Surender passed the order re ly while dismissing an appeal by the ma ment of a Chennai temple, where a priva curity guard died from injuries suffered i while thwarting burglars.

Guard Babu's family had approached t bour authorities for compensation, follo which the joint commissioner of labou held their demand. The temple administr moved the high court against it.

The temple management contested it bility saying the deceased was employe Meena Security Service, a private firm. I argued that the shrine does not fall withi definition of an "establishment" under E yees Compensation Act.

Justice Surender rejected the conten and directed the labour commissioner to d mine the claim on merits in accordance the law, preferably within six weeks.
