Eisenkot gets 67 nods but Herzog seeks more talks

Oppn ally backs ultra-Orthodox deal as prez will pick who forms govt next

JERUSALEM

ISRAELI President Isaac Herzog said on Friday that he would hold further talks with party leaders before deciding who can form the next government, despite opposition leader Gadi Eisenkot receiving the backing of 67 lawmakers, The Times of Israel reported.

Herzog said representatives of factions totaling 67 lawmakers had recommended Eisenkot, while factions totaling 46 backed Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu. But he said the outcome was not as clear-cut as the numbers suggested, citing "mutual vetoes" between and within the political blocs. Herzog said he would seek to clarify the situation "directly and quickly" through personal talks with some party leaders before assigning the mandate to form a government on Sunday.

Hardliner shifts stance

A potential new route emerged Friday after Yisrael Beytenu leader Avigdor Liberman signalled he was willing to compromise on his long-standing opposition to working with ultra-Orthodox Jewish parties, AFP reported.

Israeli President Isaac Herzog

Liberman, who has campaigned against exemptions from Israel's mandatory military service for the ultra-Orthodox, said removing Netanyahu and avoiding new elections were among the most important goals.

"It is time to compromise and understand that trying to have everything risks getting nothing," Liberman said, adding that this included the issue of the conscription law.

Ultra-Orthodox hold key

United Torah Judaism, which has seven seats, refused to recommend Netanyahu to Herzog but did not endorse Eisenkot. Its decision could leave room for a future coalition arrangement.

UTJ and the other ultra-Orthodox party, Shas, together hold 13 seats, potentially giving Eisenkot a crucial path to power if they can be brought into an alliance. UTJ lawmaker Yaakov Asher welcomed Liberman's shift, saying the party's rabbis would assess any formal proposal.

Liberman's Yisrael Beiteinu won seven seats, while Eisenkot's potential coalition faces disagreement over cooperation with Israeli-Arab parties. Liberman has said he will not work with them

Herzog to decide Sunday

Meanwhile, Herzog is expected to announce Sunday who will receive the first chance to form a government, with Eisenkot the most likely candidate because he secured the largest number of recommendations. Agencies

Belgian PM's exit rejected, king gives time for budget talks

BRUSSELS

BELGIUM's King Philippe on Friday rejected the resignation of Prime Minister Bart De Wever and sent him and the governing coalition back to work on a long-running crisis over the country's budget.

De Wever had handed in his resignation on Monday after budget talks broke down. But the king, who oversees the formation of national governments, said he was "withholding his decision" on whether to approve. The king consulted coalition party leaders throughout the week. "All of them reaffirmed their determination to reach an agreement on a sound budgetary path for the next three years," the Royal Palace said in a statement.

The leaders agreed to act responsibly in a spirit of compromise, it said. "Based on these discussions, the King decided to reject the prime minister's resignation and asked him to resume budget negotiations immediately," the statement said. De Wever will report back to the King on Nov. 16. AP

Trump, Qatar emir push to avert Iran war

WASHINGTON/TEHRAN

US President Donald Trump has discussed efforts to de-escalate tensions in the West Asia in a telephone call with Qatar's emir as the region remained on edge over the possibility of renewed US military action against Iran. Meanwhile, Iran's foreign minister held discussions with his Egyptian counterpart, part of an ongoing flurry of diplomacy as Iran's neighbors in the region push for a negotiated settlement rather than a new round of war.

The telephone call between Trump and Qatar's Emir Sheik Tamim bin Hamad al Thani centered on international efforts to end tensions, according to a statement from the Qatari ruler's media office. The two discussed in particular Qatar's mediation efforts aimed at reaching "a comprehensive agreement that ends the crisis and achieves security and stability in the region."

WAR WATCH

Qatar has been mediating between the United States and Iran to end the war. Qatar and other US-allied Gulf Arab countries came under heavy fire by Iran earlier in the US-Iran war and have been anxious to avoid a new escalation that could leave them vulnerable to attacks.

During the call, Sheik Tamim "stressed the importance of continuing dialogue and adopting diplomatic means to resolve disputes, sparing the region further escalation, and ensuring freedom of maritime navigation and the security of energy supplies," according to the statement.

US President Donald Trump and Qatar's Emir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al Thani

Iran FM-Egypt diplomacy

Egyptian Foreign Minister Badr Abdelatty stressed the need to prioritise diplomatic solutions during a telephone call with Iranian Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi. Abdelatty urged flexibility and compromise to avoid escalation, while Araghchi also spoke with Turkey and Gulf leaders on regional developments and maritime navigation.

3 ships reported hit in Hormuz

Iran's Revolutionary Guards said in a statement carried by state media Friday that two oil tankers caught fire in the Strait of Hormuz, a day after Tehran claimed five other tankers had similar fates. "Two violating oil tankers -- one east of the Strait of Hormuz and the other within the Strait itself -- that attempted to transit via an unauthorised route struck mines," the IRGC the ideological arm of Iran's military, said in a statement carried by state TV. New bomb threats target Irish broadcasters

DUBLIN

IRELAND's government said on Friday that hoax bomb claims sent to Irish media outlets amid a spate of threats against Europe-wide flights were "likely" part of a "co-ordinated campaign of disruption".

The hoaxes in Dublin came as more European flights were also hit Friday by bomb threats, the latest this week forcing authorities to reroute some planes or escort civilian aircraft with fighter jets. The Irish government confirmed police responded after national broadcaster RTE, Virgin Media, Newstalk radio and The Irish Independent newspaper all received what turned out to be hoax bomb claims.

"It is not known yet who is responsible for these threats, whether it is individuals or a centralised or co-ordinated effort," it said in a statement.

"However, these threats come on the heels of the ongoing disruption to aviation around Europe caused by similar threats, and it seems likely that this is a co-ordinated campaign of disruption." It added that "the threats made this morning against media organisations here are very serious". "Hoax threats such as these cause fear, distress and disruption to people going about their daily lives and activities; they achieve no positive purpose whatsoever," the statement said.

It noted police were working alongside Ireland's military, cyber and aviation authorities, as well as European counterparts, to find the culprits. "Every effort will be made to identify those responsible and to hold them to account," the government vowed. Police were promptly deployed to RTE's Dublin headquarters and the other sites targeted following the threats, the outlets reported.

No responsibility has been established for the threats, which come ahead of two days of high-profile European Union meetings in Dublin next week. AFP

Federal judge orders 14-day delay on Don's memorial arch

WASHINGTON

A federal judge late on Thursday blocked the Trump administration from breaking ground on a towering memorial arch for 14 days. The temporary restraining order by US District Judge Tanya Chutkan halting the work represents a major setback for one of Donald Trump's most prominent projects in his vision to remake Washington.

Meanwhile, the White House on Friday dismissed a legal ruling that blocked Trump's massive triumphal arch project in Washington, criticising an "activist" judge for temporarily halting construction.

The decision followed a series of steps taken earlier Thursday by the government, including the final approval of the arch by the National Capital Planning Commission in an 8-4 vote after a 9½ hour hearing where scores of witnesses opposed the construction.

Work could begin once Interior authorised it and the Park Service gave notice, but Chutkan said Virginia and DC showed imminent construction would cause harm.

"The harm is certain," she wrote. "Defendants initially notified the court that construction could begin as early as November 5, 2026, if the NCPC approves the project at its meeting that day and the Department of the Interior authorises construction."

"Second, the District and Virginia will incur significant unrecoverable costs. As soon as construction begins, DDOT will need to expend staff time and operating resources to affirmatively and proactively manage temporary detours, crashes or disabled vehicles," Chutkan wrote. AP

Meghan's father held in Florida over child abuse

LONDON

MEGHAN Markle's father was arrested on Friday morning by federal agents in Florida on charges related to child sexual abuse material, two people familiar with the matter told The Associated Press.

Thomas Markle Sr. was arrested outside Tampa, according to the people who were not authorised to publicly discuss the investigation and spoke on the condition of anonymity.

His arrest follows reports by The Sun, a British tabloid newspaper, that Meghan's half brother found a collection of child sexual abuse images while clearing out the home of their father in the Philippines.

Meghan Markle, the wife of Prince Harry, recently said she was "deeply distressed" by allegations that a collection of child sexual abuse images had been found at her father's former home. AP

Kyiv seeks allies for clear postwar safety guarantees

KYIV

UKRAINIAN President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said his government is seeking specific guarantees from Western allies on how post-war security support would function when the nearly five-year war sparked by Russia's full-scale invasion of his nation finally ends.

Zelenskyy's comments in an interview aired late on Thursday followed two days of discussions among allies in Brussels that focused on postwar security and reconstruction. They also came before planned three-way talks next week in Abu Dhabi between Ukraine, Russia and the United States, the first trilateral peace discussions since February.

While talks on the contours of peace continue, the grim reality of war remained front and center on Friday in Ukraine, with more Russian drone attacks and a rising death toll from Moscow's guided bomb strike Monday on a former school operating as a humanitarian aid distribution center.

Russian overnight drone strikes caused extensive power outages in several regions, including the Kyiv area.

Two days of talks in Brussels discussed postwar reconstruction, funding for 2027 and security guarantees backed by the Ukrainian government's Western allies. The meetings brought together officials from the US, UK, France, Germany and the European Union. AFP
