Missile range limit lifted, says Iran after new US strike on Qeshm Island

2,000-km missile cap dropped after Khamenei warns of borderless response to any threat

WASHINGTON

IRAN's Revolutionary Guard has lifted a self-imposed limit on its ballistic missile range, as US President Donald Trump said US forces carried out new "minor" strikes on an Iranian air defence system on Qeshm Island, amid fears of renewed conflict. Iran's Revolutionary Guard says it has lifted a self-proclaimed limit of 2,000 kilometers (1,200 miles) on the range of its ballistic missiles, suggesting the country may seek to develop missiles capable of reaching more distant targets amid fears of renewed all-out war.

The comments by the spokesman of Iran's paramilitary Revolutionary Guard came days after the country's supreme leader, Ayatollah Mojtaba Khamenei, warned that "any kind and level of threat" from the US or Israel would face a response without geographic limits.

Asked at a Tehran press conference about the limit on missile ranges, Gen Hossein Mohebbi said, "That restriction has been lifted for us."

He did not say whether Iran had missiles capable of exceeding the limit, saying only Iran would "demonstrate these capabilities in practice" rather than make statements. Iran is not known to have missiles that can go beyond the 2,000-kilometer (1,200-mile) limit — a range that puts parts of Greece and the Balkans, the entire Arabian Peninsula, the Levant and most of Egypt within reach. However, US officials have said technology from Iran's space programme can be repurposed to build intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Aftermath of reported strikes on a market in Al-Waziyah, Yemen's Taiz province, where 30 people were killed. Thousands of Syrian troops are set to deploy to Saudi Arabia and Yemen, with some already on the ground, as Riyadh seeks international support to counter the Houthis and bolster Yemen's government in Aden | AFP

WAR WATCH

The Iranian military, meanwhile, said a tanker east of the Strait of Hormuz had hit a naval mine and caught fire. It did not identify the nationality or destination of the tanker, which it said had turned off its navigational beacon and was sailing in a "prohibited area."

Donald Trump said the US military carried out new limited strikes on Iran's Suza area of Qeshm Island, targeting an Iranian air defense system. Iranian state media late on Friday reported the sound of two explosions in the Qeshm Island, which is in the crucial waterway for oil shipments.

Trump in an exchange with reporters described the military action as "minor." "They knocked out — they built a little bit of an anti-aircraft device and we knocked it out in about 15 minutes, maybe five," Trump told reporters shortly after arriving in West Palm Beach, Florida, on Friday evening. Trump did not offer further details about the target. But US officials have reported that most of Iran's air defense systems were destroyed or severely degraded during a June 2025 bombardment by Israel and in the early stages of the current conflict. These strikes are the first since Trump's Republican Party was dealt a stunning repudiation in Tuesday's midterm elections in the US The electoral setback — Republicans lost both chambers of Congress — was stoked in part by voter dissatisfaction with Trump's execution of the conflict and elevated fuel prices, a byproduct of the war that's affected nearly every sector of the global economy. In the days since Republicans' shellacking at the polls, Trump has vacillated between threatening to "destroy" Iran and suggesting a resolution to the war is near."

Iran reviewing new proposals

Two West Asia government officials said Iran was reviewing proposals presented by chief mediator Qatar aimed at addressing differences with the United States about Tehran's nuclear programme.

But one of the officials stressed that the Iranians, at least at the moment, remain unwilling to engage in negotiations with the Donald Trump administration over their atomic activities until the US agrees to several core conditions that Iran has been demanding be part of any ceasefire agreement. AP

U.S. OFFERS $20M REWARD FOR IRAN NUCLEAR INFO

WASHINGTON: Washington is offering a $20 million reward "and possible relocation" for information about Iran's nuclear program, the US military said late on Friday, as Donald Trump reiterated Tehran wants to make a deal to end the war. A State Department program, Rewards for Justice, "is offering a reward of up to $20 million and possible relocation for information about Iran's nuclear programme, including its facilities, equipment, and associated personnel, such as those in the scientific community," US Central Command said on X. In its statement about the reward, the State Department said Iran's "lack of compliance with the IAEA on safeguards obligations has led to the agency's loss of 'continuity of knowledge' regarding Iran's production and inventory of key components like centrifuges. It gave no specific parameters on what information would yield a $20 million reward. AP

HEAVY RAIN FLOODS 70,000 TENTS IN GAZA

CAIRO: Heavy rain flooded about 70,000 tents housing displaced Palestinians in Gaza on Saturday, leaving tens of thousands without shelter, Palestinian authorities said. The Hamas-run government media office reported that dozens of weakened walls and roofs also collapsed, causing injuries, some critical. Gaza civil defence spokesman Mahmoud Bassal said teams received more than 1,500 emergency calls overnight but lacked the equipment to respond adequately. Displaced families fled flooded camps in Gaza City and central and northern areas. Aid groups warned of risks from disease and urged increased humanitarian access. Gaza officials said the territory urgently needs 200,000 prefabricated homes, along with heavy machinery to clear rubble and restore roads, electricity and heating, as winter conditions worsen across the territory.

Trump taps Miller to lead WH after midterm setback

WASHINGTON

DONALD Trump on late Friday named Stephen Miller, architect of his hardline immigration policy, as his new chief of staff, signaling a bare-knuckle fightback after Republicans were hammered in the midterms. Ultra-loyalist Miller, 41, will replace Susie Wiles, who becomes the first major White House casualty from the Democratic landslide earlier this week.

Dems to fight against Miller

Democrats pledged they would fight "every step of the way" against Miller, who became synonymous with scenes of masked immigration agents committing violence after he backed federal agents who shot and killed two Americans.

"I wanted to make a change," Trump told reporters at the White House when asked why he named Miller to replace Wiles. "Sometimes in life you have to make moves."

Trump's move was particularly startling as he had repeatedly insisted before the midterms that there was "zero chance" of replacing Wiles.

A White House official told AFP that Wiles had resigned on Thursday night. But naming the combative Miller was the clearest possible signal from Trump that the gloves are now off after his brief conciliatory gestures to Democrats in the wake of the Republican midterms collapse.

Stephen Miller, WH chief of staff

"He's a great fighter," Trump said later at the airport in West Palm Beach, Florida, where he was accompanied by Miller. "He's been with me right from the beginning...and he's very loyal."Miller has been one of Trump's closest aides for decades, pushing nativist policies that gelled with Trump's "America First" agenda. At Trump's Mar-a-Lago resort home on Friday night, Miller addressed a crowd of party faithful to lavish Trump with praise, pledging his undying loyalty."It is the honor of my life to be President Trump's chief of staff," Miller said in a video posted to the president's Truth Social account.

As Trump's deputy chief of staff for policy and homeland security advisor, he was the brains behind the mass deportation programme that defined the first year of the president's second term. Meanwhile, the Democrats appear ready to use the power of congressional oversight to investigate Immigration and Customs Enforcement and the Department of Homeland Security. AFP

Houston limits cooperation with ICE

HOUSTON: Houston Mayor John Whitmire ordered police to limit cooperation with federal immigration agents, days after Democrats swept Texas in the US midterms. Police will not contact ICE when people detained for nonviolent offences, including traffic stops, are involved. Whitmire said the move aims to reduce fear among residents. ICE criticised the policy, saying it could protect serious criminals. Houston had reversed a similar measure after Abbott threatened to cut $110 million in funding. Abbott lost to Democrat Gina Hinojosa, who takes office in January.

US drops California noncitizen ballot lawsuit

LOS ANGELES: The US Justice Department has asked to dismiss its lawsuit seeking to block about 20,000 California ballots allegedly cast by noncitizens. The move comes after Republicans' midterm losses and days before a hearing on the ballots. California officials said the voter list was outdated and included legitimate voters. DOJ said it will pursue election-law violations elsewhere, amid a separate fight over California's voter rolls.

Xi-Don-Putin meeting is on track, says China

WASHINGTON

BEIJING has confirmed for the first time that it is discussing a historic meeting between Chinese leader Xi Jinping, US President Donald Trump and Russian President Vladimir Putin.

Mao Ning, a spokesperson for the Chinese foreign ministry, said at a press briefing this week in Beijing that China "is in communication with relevant parties regarding a meeting between the three heads of state."

Nothing is set, but the three-leader gathering would take place this month on the sidelines of a regional summit in Shenzhen. If it happens, it would be historic.

Experts, however, say the three leaders are unlikely to discuss anything substantive because their interests are at odds, but they would gather for a photo, with China carefully choreographing the meeting.

"I think it will happen. The question is the format and the content," said Sun Yun, director of the China programme at the Stimson Center. "China wants the image but not the costs."

Beijing is the host of this year's leaders summit of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation, a 21-member grouping that includes the US and Russia.

Trump is expected to travel to Shenzhen to meet Xi for the third time this year, maintaining a fragile trade truce that is set to expire in January. AP
