Pak-linked drug arms network busted in Mohali, 4 arrested

Express News Service

Police with the accused and recovered pistols. JASBIR MALHI

MOHALI POLICE has arrested four alleged members of a drug and illegal arms smuggling network linked to Pakistan-based handlers, recovering five sophisticated pistols, 100 grams of heroin and Rs 1 lakh in drug money from their possession.

SSP Varun Sharma said arrests were made by a team of CIA staff, Kharar, led by Inspector Pardeep Singh Bajwa, as part of the district police's ongoing drive against criminal elements.

The accused were apprehended on November 7 during patrolling and checking of suspicious persons in the Kharar area, following specific intelligence inputs. Arrested men have been identified as Sukhchain Singh alias Sukhi, Manpreet Singh, Sunil Singh, and Gurpreet Singh, all residents of Ferozepur district.

According to SSP, police had received information that the accused were involved in drug and illegal arms trafficking and used a Creta car to supply narcotics and weapons in different parts of Mohali.

Preliminary investigations have revealed that the accused were in contact with Pakistan-based proclaimed offenders (POs). They allegedly collected heroin dropped at designated locations through drones sent across the international border and subsequently distributed it in Mohali, Chandigarh, and other parts of the Tricity to earn hefty profits.

A case has been registered against the accused at City Kharar police station under Sections 21, 61 and 85 of the NDPS Act and relevant provisions of the Arms Act.

Police have secured four days' remand of the accused for further interrogation. Investigators are probing links to identify other members of the network.

Chandigarh SSR: Draft voter list on Nov 30, final roll on Jan 21

Express News Service
Chandigarh, November 10

THE ELECTORAL roll revision exercise in Chandigarh under the Special Summary Revision (SSR) will begin later this month, with the Election Commission of India (ECI) scheduling publication of the draft voter list for November 30.

The final electoral roll is slated to be released on January 21, 2027, following a month-long window for voters to seek corrections, raise objections, or apply for inclusion of names.

The commission has announced a schedule for SSR in six states and Union Territories, including Chandigarh, Arunachal Pradesh, Dadra and Nagar Haveli and Daman and Diu, Mizoram, Odisha and Sikkim.

January 1, 2027, will be the qualifying date for determining eligibility for enrolment.

As per the schedule, the process of rationalising and restructuring polling stations will be completed by November 20.

An integrated draft electoral roll will be made public on November 30, after which voters can submit claims and objections until December 30.

Authorities have been given time until January 16 to decide on all applications and objections before the final publication of the revised list on January 21.

Focus on accessible polling stations

ECI has laid down a series of measures to improve voter access and ensure polling stations are conveniently located.

Ordinarily, a polling station should not have more than 1,200 electors unless prior approval is obtained from the Commission.

Guidelines also stipulate voters should not have to cover a distance exceeding two kilometres to reach their designated polling station. Arrangements must be made to ensure electors do not have to cross natural barriers to exercise their franchise. Polling stations are to be located on the ground floor or at road level to facilitate access.

Revision exercise will also allow prospective young voters to apply for registration in advance. Those turning 18 on January 1, April 1, July 1 or October 1, 2027, can submit Form 6 applications ahead of attaining qualifying age.

Their applications, however, will be taken up for processing during the respective qualifying quarter.

The commission has reiterated that furnishing Aadhaar details in Forms 6 and 8 is not compulsory.

An application for adding or deleting a name cannot be rejected or decided merely because an applicant has not provided Aadhaar information.

'Wrongfully charged' Rs 100 penalty despite positive FASTag balance, man wins Rs 4,000

Jagriti Rai
New Delhi, November 10

THE CHANDIGARH District Consumer Commission has ordered the National Highway Authority of India (NHAI) and an online payments bank to refund Rs 100 to a man after finding that it wrongfully deducted the amount as a penalty for not having sufficient amount in his FASTag wallet.

Holding that the penalty was wrongfully charged despite a positive wallet balance, violating official NHAI guidelines, a bench of president Pawanjit Singh and member Mohan Sharma also awarded Rs 4,000 in compensation to the man.

"The complainant has produced documentary evidence showing a positive wallet balance at the relevant time and payment of the disputed penalty at Behram Toll Plaza. No satisfactory justification has been placed on record by NHAI to explain the collection of penalty at Behram Toll Plaza. Accordingly, the act of collecting the disputed penalty, in the facts established on record, amounts to deficiency in service," the commission held.

In its October 22 order, the commission highlighted the official NHAI circular dated February 11, 2021, relied upon by the complainant, which explicitly states that a vehicle must be allowed to pass through a toll plaza as long as the FASTag account or wallet balance is non-negative.

On June 17, 2022, while travelling from Chandigarh to Jalandhar, the complainant was charged a toll fee along with a Rs 100 penalty at the Behram Toll Plaza because the system flagged his FASTag balance as insufficient. However, he claimed that he had a positive wallet balance of Rs 210. He was charged a total of Rs 200 as a fee and fine.

> "The complainant has produced documentary evidence showing a positive wallet balance at the relevant time and payment of the disputed penalty at Behram Toll Plaza. No satisfactory justification has been placed on record by NHAI to explain the collection of penalty"
> CHANDIGARH DISTRICT CONSUMER COMMISSION

He pointed to an official NHAI circular stating that vehicles should be allowed to pass as long as the FASTag balance is positive (non-negative). He alleged deficiency in service, which caused him financial loss and mental agony. Thereafter, he filed a consumer complaint seeking a refund of Rs 100, compensation for mental agony and harassment & deficiency in service and costs of litigation expenses.

However, the online payment bank argued that a minimum security balance of Rs 150 was required and couldn't be used for toll payments. The NHAI did not appear before the commission. Hence, they were proceeded against ex parte (without its side being heard).

Bank must comply with NHAI rules: Order

The commission said that as the service provider responsible for issuing and managing the FASTag account, the online payment bank was obligated to align its operations with applicable NHAI rules and properly inform the user of all usage conditions.

It observed that merely claiming a requirement for a Rs 150 minimum security balance does not resolve the user's grievance or justify the penalty collection.

The online payment bank's argument that it could not process a chargeback because the prescribed time limit had passed was rejected. A chargeback is a formal dispute mechanism that allows a vehicle owner to claim a refund for an incorrect, duplicate, or unauthorised toll deduction through their issuing bank.

The commission observed that an expired chargeback period cannot extinguish liability arising from an established deficiency in service.

Salvador Dali's rare works to go on display in UT from Nov 14

Express News Service
Mohali, November 10

Curator Mehak Bhan's (above) gallery will host the exhibition titled 'Dali Dreams'

RARE AND original works by Salvador Dali, one of the most celebrated figures of Surrealism, will be exhibited in Chandigarh for the first time from November 14, bringing an internationally significant collection to the city.

Titled "Dali Dreams", the exhibition is being organised by The Argillet Collection in collaboration with 105arts, a Chandigarh-based gallery founded by curator Mehak Bhan. It will be held at the 105arts gallery in Sector 11 from November 14 to 30.

Christine Argillet, international curator, gallerist and custodian of The Argillet Collection, said Chandigarh's modernist architecture and cultural sensibilities made it a natural setting for Dalí's works.

"Chandigarh, with its visionary modernist spirit and Le Corbusier's architectural legacy, feels like a natural setting for Salvador Dalí's extraordinary imagination and his ability to challenge conventions," she said.

Argillet said bringing the collection to India was also a personal endeavour, allowing her to share the artistic legacy of Dalí and her father, Pierre Argillet, who was the artist's publisher, confidant and close friend, with a new generation of Indian audiences.

The exhibition will bring together etchings, engravings, original watercolours and tapestries, exploring themes that fascinated Dalí, including mythology, literature, science, dreams and the surreal.

Bhan said Chandigarh was chosen both for its cultural appeal and its growing art market. The city has a well-travelled audience with an established appreciation of design, architecture and the arts, alongside an emerging community of collectors and connoisseurs, she said.

Dalí (1904-1989) was among the defining figures of the Surrealist movement and one of the most recognisable artists of the 20th century. Despite never travelling to the East beyond Greece, he was fascinated by its imagery and cultures, Bhan said.

"Take his The Hippies (1969), for instance, a work inspired by photographs taken by Pierre Argillet in India," she said.

The exhibition will also offer visitors an insight into the art market and the factors that determine the value of original works, including provenance, rarity, authenticity and demand.

Original Dalí etchings in the collection are available from approximately Rs 10 lakh onwards, Bhan said. Citing an example of the appreciation in value of such works, she said an original etching purchased by academic, author and museum curator Dr Alka Pandey in the 1990s for Rs 3,000 is now valued at more than Rs 12 lakh.

"The arrival of this internationally significant collection reflects the growing potential of the Tricity as a destination for art appreciation, patronage and collecting," Bhan said.

For Argillet, who grew up around Dalí, the exhibition is also an opportunity to introduce audiences to the artist beyond his iconic public image. She recalled his energy, humour, theatricality and inventiveness.

"A Dalí etching is a work to live with, discover over time and pass on to future generations," she said, describing it as an acquisition with cultural, personal and historical value.
