Saba 1st S Asian Immigrant Woman In State House

ONE FOR THE FAMILY: 42-year-old Saba's father Syed Ali Haider said congratulatory calls have been pouring in since the results came in Bulandshahr: From studying wildlife science at Aligarh Muslim University (AMU) to teaching yoga in the US and eventually entering electoral politics, 42-year-old Saba Haider has added another milestone to her remarkable journey, winning a seat in the Illinois House of Representatives with an emphatic mandate.

Haider, whose family roots lie in Aurangabad town of Bulandshahr district, defeated Republican rival Brian Scopa in the election for Illinois' 84th House District, securing around 71% of the votes against his 29%, according to the latest results. The victory triggered celebrations at her parental home in Ghaziabad, with relatives in Bulandshahr also joining in the excitement.

Her father, Syed Ali Haider, a retired engineer, said congratulatory calls had been pouring in since the results came in. "This is not just a victory for our family but a moment of pride for the entire country," he said.

Her mother, Chandni, said Saba had displayed an inclination towards public affairs and politics from a young age. "She would always take part in debates and oratory competitions. I think her strong academic background created the foundation for her passion in politics and public service," she said.

Saba studied at Holy Child School in Ghaziabad before pursuing a BSc from Ram Chameli Chadha Vishvas Girls' College. She subsequently earned a gold medal in wildlife sciences from AMU. In 2006, she married Ali Kazmi, a computer science engineer from Bulandshahr, and moved to the US with him in 2007.

Settled in Chicago area, the couple have two children, Azim (16) and Aizah (12). Saba went on to become a certified yoga teacher, training a diverse clientele ranging from college students to corporate professionals. Her work in wellness helped her build connections within the local community.

"Over the years, Saba has built strong connections with people in her community through her work in wellness and social initiatives. Her husband has been equally supportive, encouraging her to take up public causes and pursue her political journey. We have always stood behind her ambitions," Chandni said.

Her political journey, however, was not without setbacks. She first contested the DuPage County Board elections in 2022 but lost by around 1,000 votes. Determined to make another attempt, she returned to the electoral fray in 2024 and defeated Republican incumbent Patty Gustin by a reported margin of 8,521 votes to secure a seat on the DuPage County Board.

The board comprises elected representatives from six districts, with tenure determined through a draw and varying between two and four years.

Since then, Haider has chaired the county board's environmental and strategic planning committees and worked on issues concerning public health and community development. Her campaign for the state legislature focused on affordable healthcare, education and easing the rising cost of living.

Brent below $98, cost for Indian refiners drops to $103 a barrel

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Brent crude prices fell below $94 a barrel late Wednesday for the first time in two months, before inching up to $97.7 Wednesday evening, as markets weighed the possibility of an end to the Iran conflict following the electoral setback to Republicans in the midterm elections and US President Donald Trump's acknowledgement that the war was a key factor in his party's loss.

The Indian crude basket, which averaged $119.9 a barrel in Oct — its highest level since March 2012 — fell to $103.8 Tuesday, its lowest in two months, amid hopes of a resolution to the US-Iran conflict. Iran's exemption of commercial ships from four countries, including India and China, from transit restrictions in Strait of Hormuz has also raised hopes among Indian refiners of improved availability of West Asian crude, their preferred grade, and a further easing of prices.

Although the post-poll price softening will offer no relief to consumers, it does offer some relief to oil marketing companies, which are incurring losses on every litre of petrol and diesel sold.

ICRA chief economist Aditi Nayar said a sustained decline in global crude prices would help contain the need for oil marketing companies to raise retail prices of petrol and diesel, thereby limiting another round of inflationary pressures in the economy. "ICRA expects CPI inflation to average 5.2% in FY2027, although readings in the second half of the fiscal are expected to be around 5.9%," Nayar said.

Pankaj Srivastava, senior vice president at Rystad Energy, however, said the sustainability of decline in crude prices would depend largely on geopolitical developments, including changing US political expectations and prospects of a deal between Washington and Tehran.

"A potential $10-20 per barrel geopolitical premium could return or recede, depending on whether tensions escalate or diplomatic efforts gain ground, keeping refinery profitability exposed to volatility," Srivastava said.

Ahead of COP31, UN report finds huge gap in adaptation finance

Vishwa.Mohan

New Delhi: Even if developed countries triple their money available to support developing nations to adapt to climate change by 2035, it would still cover less than a third of what is actually needed to protect people from disastrous consequences of global warming, UN Environment Programme flagged in its annual Adaptation Gap Report.

It estimated that developing countries will need around $305 billion annually by 2035, or approximately $420 billion once future inflation is taken into account, to adapt themselves. But the collective pledge of rich nations to triple international public finance flows could reach only $85-120 billion a year by 2035. So, this would only cover 20-29% of what the developing countries need to deal with intensifying climate impacts.

"The world is not ready to adapt to current climatic conditions, never mind what overshoot of 1.5 degrees Celsius will bring," said Inger Andersen, executive director of UNEP, referring to the inevitability of global warming exceeding 1.5°C threshold.

The report ahead of the 31st session of the UN climate change conference (COP31), scheduled to take place in Antalya, Turkiye, from Nov 9 to 20, may help negotiators from participating countries to put additional focus on adaptation finance.

'Write to PM': Shah dares Rahul to Parl debate on SIR

Ambala: Union home minister Amit Shah Thursday challenged Leader of the opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi to a debate in Parliament on the special intensive revision (SIR).

"You challenge Narendra Modi to a discussion, but Rahul ji, there is no need for Modi ji for this. If you want a discussion, just write to PM Modi. We are ready to convene a special session of Parliament to discuss SIR. Let us have the debate," Shah said, accusing Gandhi of creating a ruckus in Parliament and not letting it function.

Shah, who led BJP's "Loktantra Bachao, Arajakta Hatao" march in Karnal, accused Congress of opposing SIR to protect infiltrators and undermine democratic institutions after repeated electoral defeats. He asserted that Modi govt's policy towards infiltrators would be to "detect, delete and deport" them.

Rejecting Gandhi's claim that 13 crore voters were being deleted, Shah cited figures presented by BJP — 2.8 crore deceased voters, 6.25 crore people who had shifted, and nearly 1 crore duplicate registrations. The remaining 3 crore cases, he said, required verification and included suspected infiltrators. Citing alleged discrepancies in electoral rolls, including a son being listed as older than his father and 132 people registered at an address measuring 600 square yards, Shah defended SIR.

Taking aim at Congress's Nov 1 rally in Delhi, Shah questioned the choice of date in view of the 1984 anti-Sikh riots and said the turnout fell short of the party's claims despite mobilisation from across the country.

IMA urges CBFC: Deny Sunny Deol film a certificate

New Delhi: Indian Medical Association (IMA) has urged Central Board of Film Certification (CBFC) to refuse a certificate for the upcoming Hindi film 'Suryaa: Ant Se Aarambh Tak', starring Sunny Deol and Ravi Kishan, alleging its teaser glorifies violence against doctors and hospital staff at a time when attacks on healthcare workers are a growing concern.

In a detailed representation to CBFC, IMA said the film portrays a father who loses his daughter and takes revenge on those he holds responsible, with scenes showing him assaulting doctors and hospital staff inside a hospital. The association objected to dialogues in the teaser that accuse doctors of demanding excessive payments, ordering unnecessary tests and writing commission slips instead of prescriptions.

Alternatively, it sought referral to a revising committee, a screening for IMA and a medical expert, and removal of scenes glorifying violence. It sought a hearing before the board takes a call, citing the film's scheduled release on Nov 20, 2026. —Anuja Jaiswal

HC quashes 'Pakistan Zindabad' case

Karnataka High Court has quashed a case against a resident of Mandya district who was accused of raising a pro-Pakistan slogan, observing that it is highly unimaginable that protesters would raise "Pakistan Zindabad" cries in a BJP demonstration. Accused DS Ravi Kumar's counsel claimed that on account of a slip of the tongue during the vociferous protest in 2022, the participants shouted "Pakistan Zindabad" instead of "Pakistan Murdabad".
