UEFA NATIONS LEAGUE | Kane extends England goals record to fire past Croatia, Spain stays perfect with win over Czechia

Italy stuns France at home

AP
LONDON

Italy recorded its first victory over France on home soil since 1962, defeating the visitors 3-1 as Pio Esposito scored twice at San Siro.

Italy moved top of Group A1, above France thanks to a better head-to-head record. France would have secured a quarterfinal berth if it had avoided defeat.

Harry Kane capped another record-breaking night with his 92nd goal for England in a 2-1 win against Croatia in the Nations League.

World Cup winner Spain beat the Czech Republic 2-0.

England-Croatia-2-1
Spain-Czechia 2-0
Belgium-Turkey-2-1

Nightmare start

Italy got off to a nightmare start as goalkeeper Gianluigi Donnarumma played the ball straight to Michael Olise. The France forward pounced on it just outside the area and glided past Alessandro Bastoni before slotting in his fifth goal in his past four matches for his country.

Italy responded through its own star striker in the 26th minute. Nicolo Cambiaghi got down the left and pulled the ball back from the byline for Esposito to prod in at the near post. It was the 21-year-old player's eighth goal for Italy in just 14 matches.

France hit the woodwork twice before Pio Esposito's older brother, Sebastiano Esposito, had a great chance to fire Italy into the lead from the penalty spot on the hour mark after Cambiaghi had been tripped by Malo Gusto. But Sebastiano blazed his effort well wide. He was replaced moments later by Federico Dimarco, who had an immediate impact down the left, crossing for Davide Frattesi to fire Italy in front.

Italy earned another penalty when Antonio Vergara was clumsily brought down by Dayot Upamecano. This time Pio Esposito stepped up and drilled it into the bottom left corner to seal the historic win.

Top spot for grabs

It's all eyes on Spain vs. England in Madrid on Sunday with top spot in Group A3 up for grabs. Both teams have qualified for the quarterfinals, but England can still secure first place if it wins by two goals or more, having lost 3-2 against Spain in September.

The newly-crowned Ballon d'Or winner celebrated becoming England's outright record appearance maker by winning his 126th cap in the game at Wembley Stadium.

England is to top the group it will have to end Spain's 100% record in the competition and breaking an unbeaten run that now stretches 43 matches after win over Czech Republic.

Usha back in IOA presidential contest with IHAI lifeline

Ice Hockey Association names her to electoral college

Haridev Pushparaj
MUMBAI

Indian Olympic Association (IOA) President PT Usha has received a fresh lifeline in her bid for re-election after the Ice Hockey Association of India (IHAI) nominated her to the electoral college for the December 5 Executive Council elections.

The development comes just days after the legendary athlete suffered a setback in the Sportspersons of Outstanding Merit (SOM) elections, where she failed to secure one of the four seats reserved for women.

Usha finished fifth behind Anju Bobby George, Dola Banerjee, Rani Rampal and Saina Nehwal, raising doubts about her chances of seeking another term as IOA president. However, the ice hockey federation's decision to nominate her as its female representative has reopened the possibility of her contesting the presidential election. IHAI general secretary Harjinder Singh has been nominated as its male representative.

IHAI nominates PT Usha as its female representative and Gen Secy, Harjinder Singh as the male representative

Under the IOA election framework, each of the 30 eligible National Sports Federations (NSFs) can nominate one male and one female representative to the electoral college.

The electoral college will comprise 71 members, including 60 representatives from national federations, eight elected SOMs, two Athletes' Commission representatives and India's International Olympic Committee member.

However, Usha's nomination could face scrutiny because the election rules require nominees to be members of the federations they represent. It remains unclear whether the former sprint queen fulfils this requirement.

Electoral Officer Sanjay Kumar Srivastava will examine objections and verify nominations before publishing the final electoral roll on Nov 15. Usha, who became IOA president in 2022, faces a potentially challenging contest, with former athletes and sports administrators emerging as contenders for the top position.

Among those being discussed are Olympic medallist Gagan Narang, former long jumper Anju Bobby George and athletics administrator Adille Sumariwalla.

Meanwhile, a faction of the IHAI has claimed that Usha was not a member of the national federation of the sport and thus cannot represent it in the General Body of the IOA.

Man United hires Mauricio Pochettino

FAYETTEVILLE

Mauricio Pochettino was hired as Manchester United's head coach on Friday, agreeing to leave his job with the U.S. national team to take on the challenge of reviving the fortunes of English soccer's once dominant force.

Just three months after announcing a contract to lead the Americans through the 2030 World Cup, the US Soccer Federation said Pochettino will depart next next week for Old Trafford. The 20-time English champion is in the relegation zone after 10 games of the Premier League season.

He will take over ahead of the Nov. 22 match at Liverpool, becoming United's eighth permanent coach or manager since club great Alex Ferguson retired in 2013.

United announced the hiring of the 54-year-old Argentine one day after firing Michael Carrick, who led the team to one Premier League win, five draws and four losses for its worst league start in 40 years.

Champions' race

Jodha, Ramswarup face stiff challenge

Joe Williams
PUNE

As the Pune racing season heads towards its conclusion, the battle for the champion trainer and champion jockey titles has gone right down to the wire, promising an exciting finish on the final day of the season.

Trainer Adhiraj S. Jodha and apprentice jockey Ramswarup currently occupy the top positions in their respective categories. However, their celebrations may have to wait, with former champion trainer Pesi Shroff and seasoned jockey A. Sandesh breathing down their necks and firmly in contention to snatch the coveted crowns.

Jodha has enjoyed an impressive season, saddling 23 winners at a strike rate of 20.70 per cent. But Shroff, with 18 winners, has kept himself very much in the hunt. Interestingly, Shroff has a better winning percentage of 22.78, underlining the effectiveness of his stable despite having fewer winners.

The jockeys' championship is equally poised for a thrilling finish. Apprentice Ramswarup leads the tally with 18 winners, but Sandesh is just two behind with 16 victories. With only one race day left, the apprentice will have to keep his nerves under control, while Sandesh will be hoping to make the most of his remaining opportunities.

The final day, therefore, promises more than just exciting racing. It will also decide who walks away with the season's most coveted individual honours. Neither Jodha nor Ramswarup can afford to relax.
